

Patty laughs at brainwash theory, again rejects family

By MARY NEISWENDER Staff Writer

Newspaper heiress Patricia Hearst, in a taped message received early Friday by a Los Angeles radio station, laughed at the theory that she has been brainwashed and said she would never surrender to live "surrounded by such pigs" as her family.

The 20-year-old former student, who was kidnapped from her Berkeley apartment more than three months ago by members of the Symbionese Liberation Army, was first sought as a kidnap victim. However, last month authorities labeled her a fugitive, charging her with almost two score crimes, ranging from car theft to kidnaping to bank robbery.

The latest taped message, found in a mattress at the rear of the North Hollywood radio station KPFK following an anonymous telephone call, also contained the voices of a man who identified himself as "Teiko" but believed to be William Harris, and a woman calling herself "Yolanda" but thought to be Harris' wife, Emily.

"It's hard to explain how I felt as I watched our comrades die," she said referring to the shootout with police in South-Central Los Angeles which left six SLA members dead. "But the only way the pigs could defeat them was to burn them alive."

"I learned a lot from those that died in that fire, and I'm still learning."

The young heiress to the Hearst newspaper fortune

—as did the Harris couple —denied that any one of the SLA members that died had committed suicide or had thought of surrender.

"There is no surrender."

In her statement, liberally sprinkled with expletives, she said she had been "ripped off" by the shooting of a person called "Kujo" — apparently a reference to 22-year-old Willie Wolfe, who died in the gunbattle.

"We loved each other so much... his love was so deep. Neither of us had ever loved another individual as we loved each other. We laughed, cried and struggled together... but we are more together now."

"I still feel strong and am willing to fight."

Lashing out at her parents, Catharine and Randolph Hearst, she compared them with the "beautiful" parents of "Kujo" and "Gabbie" — apparently Camilla Hall.

"I renounced my middle class privileges when I got the name 'Tania,'" she said in maintaining she is more determined than ever to fight for her ideals. "Life is precious to me but I have no delusions of going to prison and keeping alive... and I would never want to live my life surrounded by such pigs as the Hearsts."

The young revolutionary also lashed out at "the Fascist pig media" for "painting a typically distorted picture of the beautiful people" who died in the SLA-Police shootout.

"Cinque (Donald DeFrezee) knew to live was to shoot straight. He taught me everything imaginable —except liberalism. He taught me to shoot first and make sure the pig was dead before splitting."

"Cinque—on Feb. 4—saved my life," she said referring to her kidnapping from the Berkeley apartment she shared with her then-fiance Steven Weed.

"But I died in that fire on 54th Street. But out of the ashes I was reborn. Our comrades did not die in vain and I am even more determined..."

Miss Hearst was the last voice on the more than half hour tape recording.

HARRIS, first to speak, maintained his unit—the Malcolm X Combat Unit of the SLA—has "taken up the fight."

Love may be Patty's tie to SLA

BERKELEY (UPI)—Love may have been the tie that bound Patricia Hearst to the Symbionese Liberation Army.

In a tape received by a Los Angeles radio station Friday, Miss Hearst said "Kujo" was the "most beautiful man I know."

"We loved each other so much," she added.

Kujo was presumed in radical circles here to be Willie Wolfe, who died with five other SLA members in a fiery shootout with police in Los Angeles last month.

Miss Hearst made an evident reference to Wolfe when she said, "I (was) ripped off by the pigs when they murdered Kujo." Only two men were killed in the gunbattle, Wolfe and Donald DeFrezee, who had adopted the revolutionary name "Cinque."

One woman radical in Berkeley said Wolfe, 22, had a "magnificent smile, a very real kind of smile. He didn't laugh much." She said she could understand Miss Hearst's falling in love with him.

Before Miss Hearst's kidnapping from her Berkeley apartment Feb. 4, she had been engaged to marry 26-year-old Steven Weed, the newspaper heiress' former high school teacher.

Miss Hearst, 20, denounced her former way of life last April and said she had joined her abductors. In a later tape

Sirica not biased, U.S. court rules

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A federal appeals court, rejecting the contention that U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica is prejudiced against Watergate suspects, ruled Friday he may preside over the trial of seven high-level White House and Nixon campaign aides accused of complicity in the Watergate cover-up.

By a 5-1 vote, the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia approved a brief order denying a request by certain of the defendants that Sirica be barred from the case because of his leading role in unravelling the scandal.

Only Judge George E. Mackinnon, appointed to the court by President Nixon, dissented. He objected to the appeals court deciding the issue without a hearing and said, "It appears admitted on this record that the trial judge (Sirica) has prejudged their (defendants') ability to obtain a fair trial in this District."

Cover-up defendants John N. Mitchell, John D. Ehrlichman, Charles W. Colson, Gordon Strachan and Kenneth W. Parkinson had asked Sirica to recuse (disqualify) himself in their case, contending he was prejudiced against them and had improperly acted as a prosecutor in the original Watergate trial that he conducted in January 1973.

Sirica denied their motion and the defendants then asked the appeals court to order him removed from the case. It was this request that the appeals court denied without a hearing and without issuing an opinion.

Mackinnon complained in a three-paragraph dissent that the defendants thus had been denied their right to "support their allegations that the trial judge had acted in an accusatory manner."

"The refusal of the majority (of the court) even to answer these allegations operates, in effect, to ignore the evidence both of prejudice and of the contacts between the trial judge and the prosecutors," Mackinnon said.

Colson this week pleaded guilty to a felony in the Ellsberg break-in case and is to be dropped as a defendant in the Watergate cover-up at the time of his sentencing June 21.

The court's action cleared the way for arguments on pretrial motions to begin before Sirica Monday morning as scheduled.

HENRY KISSINGER Heeds Israeli Request

U.S. considering switch to long-term Israeli aid

New York Times Service WASHINGTON — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger said Friday that the United States had agreed to discuss future American military assistance to Israel on a long-term rather than yearly basis.

This was the first official acknowledgment that the United States — as an apparent concession to Israel in the aftermath of the Syrian-Israeli troop disengagement agreement — had consented to an Israeli request to put American military sales and aid on multiyear terms.

Kissinger, testifying on behalf of the administration's $5.2-billion foreign aid package before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, strongly defended the nearly one billion dollars sought in aid for Israel and the Arab states as part of America's "vital stake in a lasting Middle East settlement."

He was asked by Sen. Clifford Case, R-N.J., about some of the unpublished aspects of the Syrian-Israeli agreement and in particular why the committee had not yet been told about an American commitment to maintain its military aid to Israel on a more consistent basis.

"We agreed on a process for a multiyear arms program for Israel rather than do it on a year by year basis," Kissinger said. He stressed that the agreement was only on the "process" and not on a specific program itself.

He said that when detailed decisions were taken, the committee would be consulted.

According to well-placed diplomatic sources, the Israelis raised with Kissinger during last month's protracted negotiations their concern over their security at a time when they were being asked to give up occupied territory to

Sirica lifts secrecy on grand jury probe

By WESLEY G. PIPPERT WASHINGTON (UPI) — Judge John J. Sirica lifted his secrecy order Friday and said that a list of unindicted Watergate cover-up co-conspirators containing President Nixon's name may be made public if the Supreme Court decides to do so.

But the highest court had not received formal word of Sirica's order at the close of normal business, and a spokesman said no action was expected in the matter until next week.

Supreme Court Clerk Michael Rodak has the sealed documents in his office. They were filed two weeks ago when Special Watergate Prosecutor Leon Jaworski asked the court to decide whether Nixon could withhold tapes and documents about 64 Watergate-related conversations on grounds of executive privilege.

Rodak's office said it had not received formal notice of Sirica's order, and that the justices would decide whether to release the materials only when such an order was received.

Sirica's chambers said there was confusion over who was to notify the Supreme Court clerk which resulted in the delay.

The President's Watergate lawyer, James D. St. Clair, said it was "regrettable, and we think inappropriate" for the first Watergate grand jury to name Nixon in its indictment.

It was disclosed Thursday that the sealed material included a grand jury citation of Nixon as an unindicted co-conspirator in the Watergate cover-up, and publication of that citation could fill in many of the blanks surrounding the grand jury decision.

IT WOULD, for example, disclose whether the grand jury named anyone besides Nixon in the "unindicted co-conspirator" category, and it might also explain what the grand jury thought Nixon had done to warrant the nomination.

There was no indication Friday of what details the list might contain. Specifically, Sirica announced in U.S. District Court he was lifting the protective order that had sealed the transcripts of discussions he had with Jaworski and White House lawyers in May and briefs filed by both sides about the same time.

Assistant Special Prosecutor Richard Ben-Veniste made clear the unsealed material included the secret list of unindicted co-conspirators when he told Sirica, "the only grand jury material in the appendix (to a Jaworski memo among the papers) refers to action taken by the grand jury concerning the President."

'Silo killer' missile plan under fire

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Charging that the administration is pursuing "a drastic and dangerous change in the direction of our nuclear policy," two senators Friday opened a major debate on plans to develop new "silo killer" warheads for U. S. missiles.

The two, Sens. Thomas J. McIntyre, D-N.H., and Edward Brooke, R-Mass., scheduled a rare closed session of the Senate for Monday to discuss classified information on the accuracy and size of both U. S. missiles and those the Soviet Union has been testing recently.

McIntyre, who heads the Armed Services research and development subcommittee, was soundly beaten on a 13-2 vote when he tried to kill the new warheads in committee a month ago.

He said he and Brooke now want to wage a floor fight comparable to the 1970 debate over whether to build antiballistic missiles.

Under their proposal, the $77 million item in the 1975 budget to start research on the new warheads would be delayed until public hearings on the need for them have been held, and unless the President declares that Strategic Arms Limitation Talks (SALT) with the Soviet Union have failed.

"I can't see the President saying there's no more chance at SALT," McIntyre said, "and if he doesn't say that, he doesn't get these weapons."

"These programs are a drastic and dangerous change in the direction of our nuclear policy," He said they would "put a hair trigger on nuclear war" by giving Russia a motive to strike first in a crisis.

Meantime, there were three other major developments on the $21.8 billion arms procurement bill currently before the Senate.

—Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., attempted to sneak through an amendment that would have given the Pentagon an absolute veto on any and all trade deals between the United States and Communist countries. At the insistence of Senate leaders, he substantially softened the measure, giving the President the final say and setting one-year time limit. A vote was set for Tuesday.

—Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., said he would renew a fight to force a 76,000-man cutback in U. S. overseas troop deployments that was beaten in the Senate Thursday on a 46-44 vote. Cranston said the measure would be pressed after President Nixon returns from a trip to Moscow in July, and would be attached either to foreign aid or defense appropriations legislation.

—Sen. William Proxmire scheduled a debate next week over demands by the Grumman Aerospace Corp. for some $125 million in advance payments — in effect, a government loan — if it is to go ahead building F14 Tomcat fighters for the Navy.

Food clerks accept 50c

Retail clerks in Los Angeles Friday approved an employer offer of a wage increase of 50 cents an hour.

This indicated that approval was likely by all clerks in Southern California.

The nine locals of the AFL-CIO Retail Clerks International Union in Southern California must complete ratification of the contract before it becomes official. Four already have approved, including the two largest in Los Angeles and Orange counties.

Jobless rate back up in May

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Labor Department reported Friday that the nation's unemployment rate, led by joblessness among teen-agers, edged upward in May, reversing a two-month downward trend.

The unemployment rate climbed to 5.2 per cent of the total work force, which increased last month for the first time since January.

California's seasonally adjusted unemployment rate for May stayed the same for the second month in a row, the state employment agency reported Friday.

The number of job seekers in May dropped off to 648,900 — down 5,200 from the April figure. The number of employed increased for the fourth month in a row to 8,379,800. That was up 107,500 from the April figure.

The May jobless rate was an increase of 0.2 per cent over the April figure and it reversed small decreases scored in April and March.

There were more jobs — 86 million compared with 85.8 million in April — but this was offset by the increased size of the work force, which climbed by 370,000 to a high of 90.7 million. The number of persons unemployed totaled 4.7 million in May, up 170,000 from April.

There was a decline in the jobless rate for blue-collar workers, a group that had been hit sharply by the energy shortages after the Arab oil embargo in October. But this was overshadowed by increases in unemployment among clerical, sales and service workers.

Teen-agers, particularly blacks, led the jobless categories. As a whole, their unemployment rate was 15.8 per cent. But among blacks 16 to 19 years old, the rate was 33.5 per cent. This was more than twice the rate for white teen-agers.

Joy of repatriation

Syrian POWs receive an enthusiastic welcome from fellow countrymen as they lean out of bus windows on their arrival in Damascus after returning by plane from Israel. Exchange of war dead and POWs by both sides leaves way for a 20-day disengagement process as provided for in the separation of forces accord signed by the two nations in Geneva.

Golan pullout begun

Combined News Services

Israel announced Friday that disengagement of forces on the Golan Heights has begun, as returned Israeli and Syrian prisoners traded charges of maltreatment, including beatings with rubber hoses, stints in solitary, and inadequate food and medical care.

Tanks, heavy equipment and even houses were being withdrawn from Syrian territory in the Israeli army pull-back from the bulge captured in Last October's Middle East war as well as some territory held since the 1967 war.

The rumble of explosions continued along the front as the departing Israelis blew up installations and fortifications of potential military use.

Sources said the withdrawal would probably be completed ahead of schedule and noted that the Golan area is more compact than the Suez front which took weeks to evacuate after last January's truce there. Correspondents on the Golan Heights reported an Israeli pullback as early as Wednesday. But the statement by an Israeli command spokesman that the disengagement process was under way was the first official confirmation that the operational plan signed in Geneva two days ago was being put into effect on the battlefield.

IRA extremist captured

BELFAST — British soldiers have captured another senior officer of the extremist Provisional wing of the Irish Republican Army and seized important IRA documents he was carrying, security sources said Friday. The sources said Tommy Reilly, an explosives expert, surrendered without a fight when troops raided a bar where he was drinking near the Roman Catholic Falls Road section of Belfast. Reilly was the seventh IRA Provisional leader to be arrested in the past two months.

Soap Box Derby to roll

AKRON — The All American Soap Box Derby, whose spinning wheels nearly came to a grinding halt, is rolling again and may be revitalized into an international affair, according to the annual classic's general manager.

The derby, which began in 1906, first started going down hill in 1972 when its long time sponsor, Chevrolet, pulled out. Then last December, the scandal ridden and financially troubled race looked as if it might be headed for the junkyard when the Akron Chamber of Commerce pulled out after sponsoring the 1973 race.

But derby General Manager Ron Baker, a member of the Jaycee organization which has taken over sponsorship of the race, says some of the problems are being straightened out. Baker said there were new rules aimed at getting the derby "back to basics." Among other things, the new rules regulate construction limiting racers to wood construction. Plastic "supercars," which many believe promote commercialism and overzealous competition, will be barred. A scandal developed at the derby last year when the winner was disqualified because the car was equipped with an electromagnetic device which gave it a faster start.

Storms pound Dixie

CHICAGO — Heavy thunderstorms pounded an area from north central Texas into western Tennessee Friday, spawning tornadoes and flash floods. At least one man was killed and another was injured when one of about a half dozen tornadoes that touched down in Tennessee struck a cotton gin near Covington.

Authorities in Forrest City, Ark., were still cleaning up after a tornado ripped through a shopping center and residential section Thursday killing four persons. City officials said the toll may climb higher before the rubble is cleared away.

Kidnap suspects seized

GLADWYNE — The FBI announced the arrest Friday of two more suspects in the kidnaping of a wealthy socialite who was released unharmed after her husband paid a $60,000 ransom. The ransom was recovered and a police lieutenant's son was arrested earlier.

Richard Baker, special agent in charge of the FBI in this Pennsylvania town identified the two suspects as Wallace Beckett, 21, and Carl Bradford, 19, both of Philadelphia. "This caps the investigation of the Friedland kidnaping," Baker said. Frank Wyatt, 18, son of a Philadelphia police lieutenant, was arrested shortly after the kidnaping Thursday of Mrs. Annette Friedland, 44, and was being held on $1 million bail on kidnaping, extortion and weapons charges.

Kleindienst praises application of justice

Combined News Services

Former Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst Friday received suspended penalties of a month in jail and $100 fine for inaccurate Senate testimony and rushed sobbing from the Washington courtroom, a free man. Kleindienst, the second Cabinet member in this century to be convicted or plead guilty to a crime connected with official duty, told reporters the conduct of Watergate investigations has been a credit to American democracy.

"The tragedy of the last two years amply demonstrates that all of our institutions of freedom have worked ... successfully and admirably," the shaken, but relieved Kleindienst said outside the courtroom. "There isn't another country in the world where persons situated in the highest seats of power would have had the application of justice as occurred here."

U.S. District Judge George L. Hart Jr. spoke sympathetically of Kleindienst in sentencing him to the brief jail term and the fine, and then suspending both. The maximum penalty for the single misdemeanor charge

Harris

Actor Richard Harris and model-actress Ann Turkel were married Friday by Los Angeles Municipal Court Judge Leonard Wolff, a spokesman said.

It was the second marriage for Harris and the first for Miss Turkel, formerly a model in Elizabeth Arden advertisements. She costarred with Harris in the recently released film "99 and 44-10 Per Cent Dead." After a three-week tour of the U.S. promoting the film, the newlyweds will honeymoon in Paris, the spokesman said.

Royal deserter

Walter Williams Talbot, the Royal Navy's most celebrated deserter, flew in from the United States on Friday and set foot in England for the first time in 54 years.

Someone immediately gave him fish and chips. "I couldn't eat that junk," said Talbot, who considers himself American now. Talbot, 73, jumped a British navy ship in Canada in 1920. Earlier this year he gave himself up to officers aboard Prince Charles' frigate Jupiter visiting San Diego.

The Royal Navy quickly granted him an honorable discharge. Talbot arrived at Gatwick airport near London on a flight from Los Angeles. "I gave myself up because I wanted to see England again," he told newsmen. "I want to see my sister, who was not two years old when I last saw her, and to visit the place where I was born in Lowestoft."

The fish and chips were handed to Talbot on the Gatwick tarmac by a reporter anxious to see his reaction. "It was cold, I had to spit the junk out," he said. But a pint of British beer won his approval. "That's good, better than at home," he said.

Talbot, who took the name Edward Charles Clayton and served twice in the U.S. Navy after deserting the British service, said: "I feel I am an American. I've had a good life in America and I've always made money. I was an electronic technician." His first wife died in 1945 but he remarried nine years ago and has three young children.

GETTY MAY FLEE OVER TAX PLAN

The Daily Express reported Friday that J. Paul Getty, an American oilman with a personal fortune estimated at $4 billion, has threatened to leave Britain if the Labor government's proposals become law.

The newspaper said Getty, a resident of Britain for the past 20 years, had written to Prime Minister Harold Wilson and Chancellor of the Exchequer Denis Healey that he will be unwilling to stay in Britain if the tax proposal goes through.

Up to this year foreigners living in Britain have paid tax only on the income they received in Britain. The Labor government has asked Parliament to change this and tax foreigners on their worldwide income.

PAID $10 an hour for an 8 to 10 p.m. trick every Thursday night the dancers find the women just as aggressive as men at the regular shows. During one performance women cavorted with a male dancer on stage.

"Why not?" a coed at nearby Southern Illinois University asked.

Dennis Sweeny, 22, signed on for a show but complained. "They pinch me in the rear." And Mike Winton another performer says "Girls come up and ask me what time I'm getting off." Sweeny says, "You see a new side of women when you come down here."

MARY Gables, an Southern Illinois University senior says "I wanted to see the other side of it — how it felt to be ogled instead of being ogled." And from Judie Holt, "I think it's about time they turned the tables and let the men get up and make fools of themselves."

Robert Weiss, director of the company that owns the club says the performances are profitable. "We're looking into the possibility of doing it two nights a week" he says. "But we don't want to overexpose."

Will asks $14.1 million more for proposed county budget

By NOEL SWANN
Our L.A. Bureau

The county's fiscal woes were heightened Friday when Chief Administrative Officer Arthur Will called for an extra $14.1 million to be added to the 1974-75 proposed budget and at least two key departments called for extra allowances.

Will told the board the extra $14.1 million in net spending would boost the tax rate by a further 2.4 cents bringing the levy to $4.7238 per $100 of assessed valuation—the highest in county history.

Will said the lion's share of the increase — $9.1 million—was needed to meet the huge pay increases negotiated by about seven unions on behalf of nearly 60,000 employees.

A further $2.7 million is needed for expansion of Central Juvenile Hall; $1.2 million for construction of the Southwest

Health Center; $3.4 million to meet escalating costs on construction projects already approved, he said.

However, he said, various funding and staffing changes in his preliminary budget will allow for a decrease of $2.3 million.

WHEN Will first presented the proposed budget of $2.76 billion he said the projected tax rate of $4.6998 was the maximum allowed under the limits of Senate Bill 90. He said official figures now received from the state show that the tax ceiling can be raised by a further 2.4 cents.

During the second day of budget hearings Friday supervisors heard Ed Messinger, the recently appointed communications department chief, rip apart the operation he inherited two months ago.

He said he has found the department to be "seriously understaffed and underfunded and that it has not had professional management."

"Management backup doesn't exist," he said. "Nearly 75 per cent of all top management personnel is eligible for retirement and potential replacements have not been developed."

MESSINGER said that most of the major existing communications systems, including those of the sheriff's and fire department, "are deteriorating in operational capability." He said the department now functions "on a crash program basis usually with the work done in a hasty, incomplete and

Medical testimony ruled valid

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The California Supreme Court ruled Friday that a medical expert is qualified to testify as to standards of care before he is licensed if he currently has skill in the field.

The case involved a woman who sued her doctor in Butte County Superior Court in 1968 for medical malpractice on grounds that his use of steel sutures after surgery in 1949 had allegedly produced continuing infection and irritation.

The cause of the infection, according to testimony, was discovered about 20 years later in another operation as being traceable to the earlier surgery.

In trying to establish the medical "standard of care" which prevailed in 1949, the woman offered expert testimony of another doctor "Who had made an exhaustive study of virtually all available medical literature on the subject."

WHEN the defense challenged this doctor's qualifications as an expert because he was not a licensed physician in 1949, the trial court refused to let him testify about medical standards.

After the plaintiff concluded her case, the defendant moved for a nonsuit and it was granted. The motion had been based primarily on the ground that she had failed to demonstrate that the doctor violated the standard of care prevailing in the community at the time the operation was performed in 1949.

The decision rejected the claim that a doctor must have actual experience in order to qualify as an expert on a particular medical standard.

Three die as plane crashes

SAN DIEGO (AP) — A twin-engine plane crashed and burned Friday, killing three persons, the Federal Aviation Administration said.

The plane plunged into Sycamore canyon near the Santee lakes, setting a small brush fire. It was extinguished by city crews.

There was no immediate word as to the identities of the victims or where the plane came from.

It took off six minutes earlier from Gillespie Field in El Cajon.

MARIE DEGNAN said the crash took place at 12:10 p.m.

"I saw a big burst of black smoke, but I couldn't hear any explosion," Mrs. Degnan said.

There were others, however, who said they heard an explosion.

The plane apparently crashed straight down onto a hill near the northernmost of the lakes at the northeast edge of San Diego.

Kirkpatrick keeps probation job; troubleshooter named

By L.A. Bureau

Kenneth Kirkpatrick has been allowed to retain the reins of the troubled probation department but supervisors Friday appointed Personnel Director Gordon Nesvig to ride shotgun on a program aimed at curbing mounting juvenile crime.

Nesvig's appointment for a 90-day period came after a further executive session — the fourth in three days called to wrestle with supervisors' dissatisfaction over the way Kirkpatrick has been running the department.

By appointing Nesvig as a troubleshooter, supervisors solved two problems at once. They allowed Kirkpatrick to save some face in not being shunted from his job after giving the county thirty-four years of good service—and they were able to bring in a strongman to whip into shape a plan developed last year to crack the juvenile crime problem.

Ironically, shortly after supervisors announced the move, Kirkpatrick was able to appear before them and announce the county, as of Friday, had 39 vacant beds in juvenile hall facilities.

Kirkpatrick said that "normally at this time of year we have 300 youngsters sleeping on floors." He said by buying extra beds, diverting some youngsters to other facilities and by the application of some improved programs he had achieved a situation in which there were vacant beds "for the first time in county history at this time of year."

Later Friday, Supervisor James Hayes announced he would begin a full-scale inquiry June 26 aimed at "breaking the back" of juvenile crime, which he and other supervisors said has become the county's No. 1 priority.

Hayes said the first hearing will be held in the main assembly room in the Hall of Administration and a second session will be June 28.

"This will be a long, hard look at what's wrong with our juvenile justice system and why it is not working, beginning in the home and school and extending through the courts and correctional facilities," Hayes said.

The supervisor said state law demands "treatment and correction" for juveniles but said there is "an almost complete lack of any serious attempt to rehabilitate and redirect the lives of juvenile delinquents."

He said the failure to carry out the intent of the state laws has contributed to the "shocking rise in juvenile crime in the past two years." During his hearings, he said, he will be making a major effort to draw on colleges and universities throughout the county to bring in experts from all disciplines related to the juvenile crime problem.

He said his inquiry also will probe Juvenile Court operations. Supervisors noted that Nesvig would take on the "shotgun" job in the probation department in addition to his regular duties as personnel director.

Military risk

On April 6, 1974, I applied for renters' insurance with Farmer's Insurance Co. and paid one year's premium of $62. One week later I received a call from my insurance salesman telling me that the insurance company would not issue me a policy because I do not have auto insurance with them and I am in the military. He said they would insure me if I were not in the military. Could ACTION LINE please find out if the insurance company is acting legally in denying me insurance because I am a serviceman? J.H., Paramount.

The insurance company is acting legally because they are not discriminating against you on the basis of race, sex or creed, according to a spokesman for the California Department of Insurance. The spokesman said there are no regulations to prevent insurance companies from evaluating military personnel as poor insurance risks. Richard Pittenger, vice president of public relations for Farmer's Insurance, told ACTION LINE that military personnel are generally considered poor renter insurance risks because "they move around so much and are not good on paying their premiums." However, Pittenger said that he would re-evaluate your case if you would contact him at 931-1961.

Refund

I recently ordered and paid for a bedspread from Greenland Studios of Miami, Fla. However, they did not have the size I wanted and they told me I would receive a refund. I received a card telling me my refund was on the way but I still do not have it. Could ACTION LINE please help. W.V., Long Beach.

ACTION LINE contacted the company and by now you have received your refund. The reason for the delay was that refunds take at least six weeks to process, according to a company spokesman.

Demolition

There is a house in the 1300 block of East Broadway that burned down a year ago and what's left of the structure still is standing there. The windows have been boarded up, but it appears that nothing more has been done to the house. Children frequently play in the area and I think this structure is a possible safety hazard. Why hasn't the city ordered it to be torn down? H.H., Long Beach.

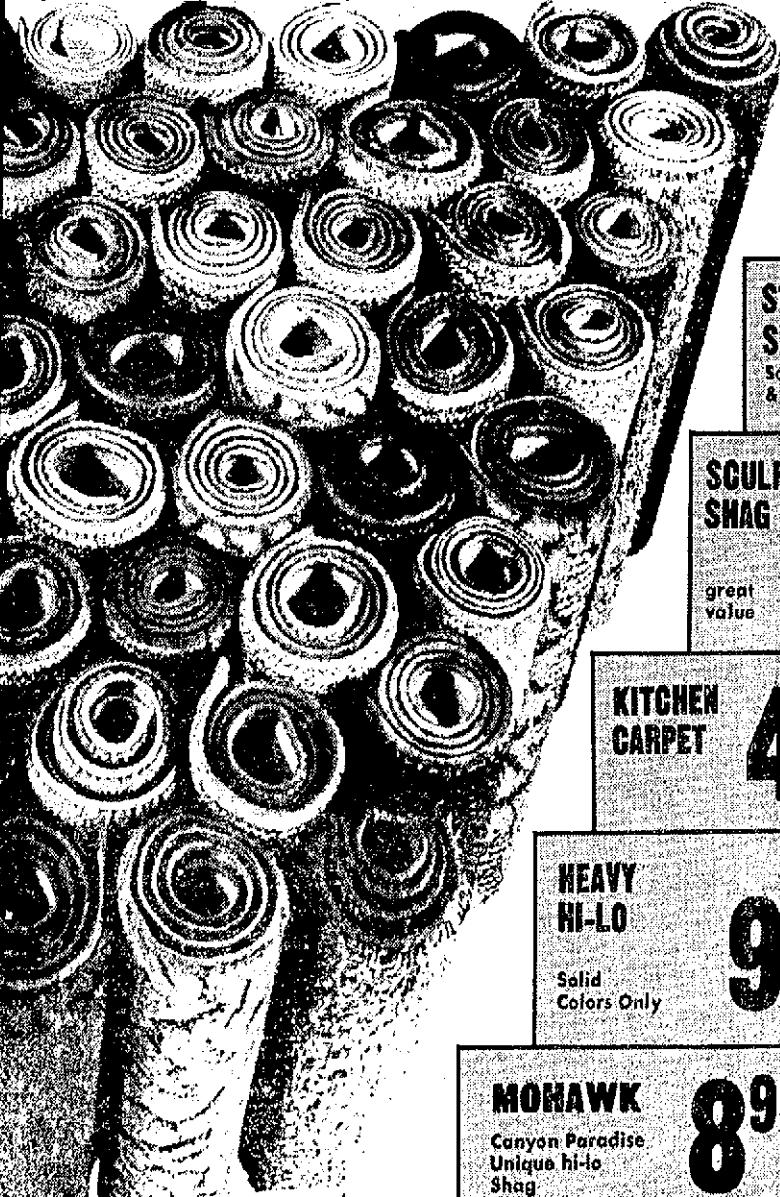

The Long Beach Building and Safety Department has ordered the demolition of the structure, but that decision wasn't handed down until April 1. The owner appealed the demolition order to the department's board of examiners and lost that round May 20, but he still can file an appeal with the City Council and then with the courts. If he doesn't appeal, he must demolish the structure by the end of June, but this deadline is suspended if he files an appeal. A spokesman for the building and safety department said it's not unusual for a burned-out structure to remain standing this long. Except for cases involving extreme safety hazards, the city doesn't automatically order a building demolished after a fire. "We assume it takes some time for an owner to get his insurance settlement and to arrange for work crews," the spokesman said. "If it takes too long, the city will order the work done."

Tough turn

It's extremely difficult for a motorist to make a left turn onto Carson Street from Faculty Avenue because of the heavy cross traffic. Why can't the traffic lights at Lakewood Boulevard and Carson Street and at Clark Avenue and Carson Street be synchronized so that the traffic would stop at both intersections at the same time? This would permit motorists to pull out onto Carson Street. R.S., Long Beach.

There is virtually no way to guarantee a gap in two-way traffic by synchronizing traffic signals, said John Gillespie assistant traffic engineer for Long Beach. Even if the through traffic was stopped at both intersections, you still would have to contend with the numerous motorists who make turns onto Carson from both directions. In that area, Gillespie added, it would be especially impractical to set the signals so that they would change at the same regular intervals. The signals there operate independently from each other because they are strictly traffic-actuated — the light stays green for a longer period when the traffic is heavier. Because of the proximity to Long Beach City College and the McDonnell Douglas plant, the traffic flow in that area is particularly heavy, but the volume fluctuates throughout the day. Because of this situation, the traffic engineer's staff believes that actuated traffic lights are essential in that area, and there is no way to synchronize this type of signal. Gillespie recommended you use one of the several alternate routes out of the City College area.

'No scandal if women aides'

By FRANCES LEWINE

WASHINGTON (AP) — Watergate would not have occurred if women were included in policy positions on the White House staff, asserts Patricia Sullivan Lindh, President Nixon's special assistant for women's progress.

Mrs. Lindh, whose appointment was announced Thursday, said Friday she thinks women possess a stronger sense of right and wrong than men.

"I think we're more sensitive to certain things.... We have an innate sensitivity," she said in response to a reporter's question about Watergate.

Mrs. Lindh is a member of the board of Louisiana's Women's Political Caucus and a Republican National Committee woman from her state.

She told reporters: "My job is really trying my darndest to communicate and come in contact with and listen to and talk to women in this country. And I don't think women have one thing remotely to do with Watergate."

In her new job as a special assistant to White House counselor Anne Armstrong, the Baton Rouge resident said she is particularly interested in making "the average American middle class woman aware of being a woman, aware of the issues, and aware of what all these problems are really and truly about."

She said she believes that "the great middle group are the ones we have to really reach."

She said they don't believe in the Equal Rights Amendment, a cause to which Mrs. Lindh is committed. The middle group is "worried about things like community property," she said. She wants to reach them "because, when they come over, I think we're home."

Asked if she had ever suffered any sex discrimination, Mrs. Lindh said she worked in politics as a volunteer performing "the coffee pot-lifting envelopes routine." At that time, she said, she felt "there's more out there than this."

FORMER NIXON chief of staff H.R. Haldeman tells newsmen outside his L.A. home that there was no secret fund to help him pay legal expenses: —UPI

Nixon was willing to fund 2 top aides

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon once voiced willingness to help H.R. Haldeman and John Ehrlichman pay their legal expenses — but never followed up, a White House official said Friday.

The assertions by presidential spokesman Gerald L. Warren came amid reports of secret testimony before the Senate Watergate committee that Nixon had told the two former aides that his friend C.G. "Bebe" Rebozo controlled a $400,000 fund for their legal expenses.

"There is not now or was there ever any defense fund set up by the President," Warren said. But he added that when Haldeman and Ehrlichman were leaving his staff more than a year ago, Nixon "did express his deep personal concern that their sole significant source of income was being closed off."

Haldeman also denied the existence of such a fund.

According to Warren, Nixon "in a natural and human way expressed a willingness to assist them in meeting those burdens if possible."

When a reporter referred to Nixon's expressed willingness to help and asked, "He never did anything about it?" the presidential spokesman responded: "That's right."

Sources said Thursday that Lawrence M. Higby, once an aide to Haldeman, testified Haldeman had told him that Rebozo controlled the fund that would be available for the legal defense of presidential assistants. Warren coupled his denial of the existence of any such fund with renewed criticism of the Senate Watergate committee.

"We view this as another calculated leak from the Watergate committee... designed to be politically damaging to the President of the United States and his former aides," Warren said. Ehrlichman, meanwhile, told reporters that he had no knowledge of any fund established at Nixon's behest.

In Los Angeles, Haldeman said he had asked friends to set up a trust fund but had never received any money from a White House fund.

"The only money I've received has been from unsolicited gifts of less than $100 that have come in from around the country," Haldeman said at his home.

Haldeman refused to answer any further questions.

"In reference to news reports of a so-called secret defense fund, he said, 'I've received no money from any such fund.'"

He added, "I now realize I'm going to have enormous legal expenses and for that reason I've agreed to the recommendation of some personal friends that they set up a trust fund for the purpose of soliciting contributions."

He said he had not paid any legal fees to date and "any expenses I do have I would expect to come from my own pocket or from the trust fund."

Mrs. Ellsberg doctor says his office rifled

By JOHN M. CREWDSON

WASHINGTON — A New York psychoanalyst who treated Mrs. Daniel Ellsberg has disclosed that his office was searched by intruders in November, 1971, less than three months after the attempt in Los Angeles by the White House "plumbers" to steal Ellsberg's medical records from the office of his former psychiatrist.

Dr. Robert U. Akeret, who practices in Manhattan, confirmed in a telephone interview that his office had been entered, apparently searched, and left in considerable disarray, but that blank checks were the only things missing.

AT THE time of the intrusion, a cabinet in Akeret's office contained a file relating to his treatment of Patricia Ellsberg. The cabinet was unlocked, he said, and had also contained the blank checks. The doctor said he had no way of knowing whether or not the files on his patients had been photographed or otherwise tampered with.

He did not report the break-in to local or federal authorities, the doctor said, but simply asked his bank to void his old account and issue him new checks. Akeret said the new account was opened on Nov. 12, 1971, and on that basis he placed the time of the break-in as the previous evening.

The government apparently had knowledge of Akeret's professional relationship with Mrs. Ells-

EXCLUSIVE N.Y. TIMES SERVICE

After the publication of the Pentagon papers, President Nixon reportedly directed the special investigations unit to learn what it could about Ellsberg, who was by then the prime suspect as the source for the documents.

Egil M. Krogh Jr., who is now serving a sentence at the federal prison camp at Allenwood, Pa., has admitted that he approved the burglary of the office of Dr. Lewis J. Fielding, a Beverly Hills, Calif., psychiatrist who was known to have treated Ellsberg.

That burglary, which was organized in September, 1971, by G. Gordon Liddy and E. Howard Hunt Jr., two of Krogh's subordinates, failed to produce any files on Ellsberg. Hunt and Liddy were among seven men later convicted for their roles in the Watergate bugging case.

Neither Ellsberg nor his wife, who were married in 1970, could be reached for comment on the burglary report.

Neither Ellsberg nor his wife, who were married in 1970, could be reached for comment on the burglary report.

Man who cited tapes still works for Nixon

By JAY PERKINS

WASHINGTON (AP) — The man who first told the nation that President Nixon tape-recorded his White House conversations said Friday his testimony had not caused any problems between himself and the White House.

"There have been absolutely no repercussions," said Federal Aviation Administrator Alexander Butterfield. "I've been the President's representative on two occasions since then. I've been to the White House many times since."

Butterfield started the nation nearly a year ago when he told the Senate Watergate committee that many conversations between President Nixon and White House officials had been recorded.

The former White House aide said the tapes were made for historical records and the recorders were activated by voices. He also said the recorders were able to pick up low tones very well but added "I can't tell you about a whisper."

Butterfield declined, as he has in other recent interviews, to comment at length on Watergate but did say the fact that his disclosure had created numerous problems for Nixon did not bother him.

"It doesn't weigh on me, not at all," he said.

Butterfield said he received several congratulatory letters from his fellow White House workers shortly after his testimony.

He said he could not remember who wrote him but said his former boss, H. R. Haldeman, was not among the writers. Haldeman was the President's right hand man until he and domestic affairs adviser John Ehrlichman resigned last year. Both Haldeman and Ehrlichman subsequently were indicted in connection with the Watergate cover-up.

Butterfield was Nixon's principal coordinator of personal and administrative matters for four years. He resigned his post in 1972 and was named as FAA administrator shortly afterwards.

Ichord bares Ellsberg attack

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (UPI)—Rep. Richard H. Ichord, D-Mo., Friday confirmed that he had been contacted by Charles W. Colson in an attempt to use Ichord's House committee to publicize derogatory information about Daniel Ellsberg.

Ichord said in 1971 his staff was contacted by Colson with the idea of using Ichord's committee, then called the House Committee on Un-American Activities, to hold hearings publicizing information to be obtained by the White House "plumbers unit."

Ichord said he answered, "I'm not going to talk to anybody under the President. So if the President wants me to investigate the Ellsberg affair, the President can simply call me. I sent that word back," Ichord said.

The congressman said President Nixon called him June 27, that year, to wish him a happy birthday, but made no mention of the Ellsberg case. Ichord said it was the last he heard of the issue.

FBI gathered political data for GOP, agent says

Sen. Long angry at House action Sugar Act repeal perils Nixon trade bill

CHICAGO (AP) — The special agent in charge of the Chicago FBI office said Friday that in 1972 he was asked to gather political information on Democratic Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey.

Richard Held said in a television interview Friday that when he was running the Minneapolis FBI office in 1972 he was asked to submit information that was "purely political."

Held said he was told the message seeking the political information had come "right out of Mr. Gray's office." L. Patrick Gray III was then acting director of the FBI. Held said it was not long before the November 1972 elections that "a teletype came out to 19 major offices and we were to submit certain information that was purely political. They asked us to determine the conditions in that area which, possibly, a White House representative could come out to talk about to counter-act," he said.

"I was in Minneapolis. Obviously, they wanted information that would be against Hubert Humphrey and the likes because that's a strong Democratic state, and they wanted to know conditions which they felt they could send people out to speak against."

HELD SAID he was asked to submit the information to "enhance the Republican image."

In Washington, FBI spokesman Tom Coll said, "Mr. Held referred to a teletype in November 1972 which came out from Mr. Gray to 18 or 19 major field offices of the bureau inquiring about issues of the day or things affecting law enforcement that President Nixon should have been aware of in the event he visited these areas. The teletype did not mention Humphrey by name or any candidate, but it did mention the White House." He said the teletype asked for information on problems Nixon "should be knowledgeable about and could comment on."

Coll said he did not know the exact date of the telegram "but it was before the election, because we had a short deadline on the thing to get it back to the White House. I think we did it over a weekend." Coll did not know who at the White House asked for the information or who in the Justice Department relayed the request to the FBI.

HE SAID the whole matter came out during Senate Judiciary Committee hearings on Gray's nomination to be permanent FBI director.

On March 23, 1973, during those hearings, Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., asked Gray if he could find out if he had written a memorandum ordering an investigation of an FBI directive to field offices in 1972 requesting information about the criminal justice system that might be useful for Nixon's campaign speeches.

Gray declined to do so. He testified that he had strongly objected to the directive that was sent out during his absence but was unable to recall whether he had ordered an investigation of it orally or in writing.

There was no apparent explanation for Held's belief that Humphrey would be a target since he was not a candidate for office at the time. Humphrey, the former vice president and now senator from Minnesota, had sought the Democratic presidential nomination earlier in 1972, losing out to Sen. George McGovern.

By LEE EGERSTROM
Our National Bureau

WASHINGTON — The chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, angry with this week's House vote to repeal the Sugar Act, is telling friends that he intends to hold the Nixon administration's much-wanted trade bill a hostage until the House changes its mind.

Sen. Russell Long, D-La., has told his friends that if sugar is to be exposed to the whims of the world market, so should other commerce and industry products.

Both sugar and the President's trade bill are under jurisdiction of Long's Finance Committee.

THE trade bill authorizing the U.S. to enter trade agreements with other countries has been pending in Congress for 20 months.

Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., has two-thirds of the Senate cosponsoring an amendment that would deny special trade concessions to the Soviet Union unless it removes barriers to Jewish emigration to Israel. Offering trade benefits to the Soviet Union is a key part of the President's trade package.

Congressional sources interested in sugar legislation claim Long will continue to sit on the trade bill even if Jackson backs off from his opposition to extending Russia "most favored nation" trade status.

According to the sources, Long will not move on trade legislation as long as there is little likelihood of the House changing its mind on extending the 40-year-old Sugar Act.

Sugar represents one of the most fickle world commodity markets, with wide ranges in price. And sugar, along with oil, is a priority constituent concern for the Louisiana senator.

MEANWHILE, two House members who represent sugar-producing districts have begun encouraging their growers and processors to look for new markets after the act expires this year.

Rep. Spark Matsunaga, D-Hawaii, is telling his cane sugar industry to look to Japan.

And Rep. Robert Bergland, D-Minn., has already served as the conduit for Red River Valley beet sugar interests to begin negotiations to sell their products in Canada.

The Sugar Act's defeat by the House will remove the government minimum price guarantees, which consumer advocates claim arbitrarily sets higher consumer prices. But it also lifts the embargo on American produced sugar from being exported.

In a floor speech after the House's raucous sugar debate, Bergland informed his colleagues: "I am now exploring the possibility of diverting Minnesota-produced sugar from the markets of this country to the prairie provinces of Canada in exchange for Canadian crude oil to supply Minnesota's refineries."

"The House, by its action, has agreed to a global market concept for sugar and under this policy Canadian sugar users and Minnesota petroleum users could both benefit," he said.

Bergland said he would prefer that the House extend the Sugar Act to lock in American sugar for American users "at prices mutually acceptable..."

"But with the defeat of the bill the sugar industry in my state has no choice but to make the best deal with whomever possible and the nearby Canadian market offers the best hope," he said.

Matsunaga gave a similar message, pointing to Japan as the logical new market. Sugar prices in both Canada and Japan run consistently higher than the U.S. domestic price.

Bergland told the House of his efforts to divert sugar to the Canadian market and said, "...so when sugar goes over $2 for a five-pound sack, you can explain the situation to your constituents."

What will happen to sugar prices, although the defeat of the Sugar Act was handled as a consumer measure in the House, remains unclear.

Sugar prices jumped upwards to the full limit on the New York coffee and sugar exchange Thursday. However, the complicated two-market system for domestic and foreign sugar makes early analysis difficult for most buyers.

Whether Long can hold the trade bill captive in Congress is also unclear. And whether the House will reconsider sugar legislation is unclear.

House Agriculture Committee Chairman W. R. Poage, D-Tex., said any work now to rewrite the legislation would be "an effort in futility."

Prop. 9 urged as U.S. model

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Atty. Gen. William Saxbe suggested Friday that state and local governments enact tough campaign spending rules modeled after a law approved this week by California voters.

Saxbe, in his second speech in two days on political and campaign reform, cited the California vote on Proposition 9, which requires candidates to disclose contributions over $50; limits campaign spending and prohibits political contributions from lobbyists.

"Other states — and even localities — should consider following suit, for the problems we have developed in Washington, D.C., are not limited to the nation's capital," Saxbe told the Toledo Area Governmental Research Assn.

"The effects of Watergate have spread far beyond the federal government and have prompted considerable soul-searching by many groups in the private sector," he said.

ON THURSDAY, Saxbe called the Watergate incident "the greatest cloud in our history."

He noted Friday that 11 major corporations have pleaded guilty to making illegal contributions and that 10 business executives have pleaded guilty or no contest to similar charges.

"Those cases show... that business can also have its seamy side, and that crime is not limited to those who deal in drugs or rob banks or mug people on the streets," he said.

Saxbe said a greed for greater and greater profits and an increase in the number of businessmen who cut corners and ignore the law could wreck the free enterprise system. Saxbe pointed to major oil industries as large businesses being investigated for possible antitrust violations.

The attorney general's antitrust division announced Thursday that joint bargaining regulations once cleared and now being used by the major oil firms were being revised. It said the clearance does not apply to future negotiations.

"We are concerned that circumstances may have so changed that joint bargaining may no longer be appropriate from the standpoint of the antitrust laws," he said.

Customs head denies criticisms

WASHINGTON (AP) — Amid a bureaucratic dispute over antidrug-smuggling jurisdiction, U.S. Customs Commissioner Vernon D. Acree has denied making remarks critical of other government agencies.

Acree said last Tuesday that a decision by the Nixon administration to strip Customs of some responsibility and give it to the U.S. Border Patrol, a Justice Department agency, was an effort to "politicize drug enforcement." He also referred to the Justice Department as "the most political of all government agencies."

A statement issued on Friday through the Customs Service press office said Acree "has indicated that he was quoted out of context as saying that the transfer... was an attempt to politicize drug enforcement" and that he "did not refer to another government agency as being the most political."

Ford says contempt call can be said impeachable

OGDEN, Utah (AP) — Vice President Gerald R. Ford said Friday that if President Nixon were held in contempt of court "it can be interpreted in the minds of some... as an impeachable offense."

But Ford said whether it would be an impeachable offense could be argued both ways and "I would not pass judgment on it at this point."

It was the only comment Ford would make to questions about the action of U.S. District Judge Gerhard Gesell, who said in Washington Friday that Nixon risks "appropriate procedures under the contempt statutes" if he continues to refuse full access to documents wanted for the plumbers' trial.

Farr hearing over; jail time ruling due

A Los Angeles Superior Court judge will decide "after June 17" whether Los Angeles Times reporter William Farr could be forced—by serving more time in jail—to reveal the sources for a news story he wrote during the Manson murder trial three years ago.

Judge William H. Levitt took the matter under submission Friday after final arguments by attorneys in the case. The arguments topped a two-day hearing in which three of the nation's top newsmen testified they would not—nor should Farr—reveal the names of any confidential sources, no matter the cost.

Farr has spent 46 days in jail after being held in contempt of court by Superior Court Judge Charles Older when he refused to say which two attorneys had given him secret court documents, in direct violation of the court's gag order.

"We feel in this case that Mr. Farr has been subjected to enough," attorney Mark Hurwitz said. "Mr. Farr has said he will not reveal his sources. He is not a martyr without a cause as he has been referred to... all he wants to do is be a reporter but he knows that if he talks not only will he suffer, but his colleagues will suffer."

"It's not fair to Farr to make him a whipping boy to teach others a lesson... we can't put a man like this in prison for the rest of his life. He doesn't want to be a martyr. He wants to be a news reporter and he can't be if he changes his stand."

County Counsel William Stewart, representing Judge Older, claimed the reporter could withstand the jail time in the past because "he felt he had a chance on appeal."

"It will be a different situation when the appeals have been exhausted," Stewart told the court, "and the only way out is to testify."

Stewart claimed that if the court rules that only punitive jail time can be given the decision would be a "benchmark" for others.

"The next time we have a high publicity trial, Mr. Farr will be there and will be soliciting violation of the court order from attorneys... the maximum time will be five days and he will be willing to submit to that."

"It is too premature now to contend he will not change his stand," Stewart said contending that erring reporters must be confined for an unlimited time because if the time were limited the reporters would take it.

an unindicted co-conspirator in the Watergate cover-up "as anything of a serious nature."

Ford said that even if the grand jury had indicted the President, that would not mean he was guilty.

"What this grand jury did is not even up to the standards of a grand jury," Ford said, "and they admitted that."

Ford said he believes he has read more of the evidence than the grand jury "or anyone in Congress" and, on that basis, he still believes the President is innocent.

The vice president said earlier in Savannah, Ga., that lawyers should set an example of morality and law and Ford was asked at the news conference if he thought that the President's being named by the grand jury and his refusal to turn tapes over to the House Judiciary Committee set such an example.

He did not answer directly but said the President and his lawyer have the right to use any proper legal defense procedures.

Ford held a news conference after telling 67 graduating high school seniors that however they choose to serve their country communities "the most urgent need of all will be for brave men and women to have faith in America and its high ideals."

The flame of decency and right still burns as brightly as ever in our land," he said.

Sharp blames defeat on criminal charge

By TOM WILLMAN Staff Writer

Long Beach City Councilman Wayne B. Sharp Friday blamed his primary election defeat as a State Assembly candidate on pending criminal charges.

But the 46-year-old Sharp vowed those charges would not force him from his council seat.

Sharp looked back on his unsuccessful campaign for statewide office while waiting for his criminal case to be called in Los Angeles Superior Court Friday morning.

The councilman is charged with two counts of receiving stolen property and one of attempting to receive stolen property.

Judge Earl C. Broady heard arguments by defense attorney Edward George and Deputy Dist. Atty. Michael Marcus over the possibility of dismissing one of those charges, then said he would rule on the matter June 25 at 9 a.m.

Sharp was accompanied in court by Steve Kral Jr., manager of Sharp's campaign for the Republican nomination to the 57th Assembly District.

Long Beach businessman John D. Waterbury, a political unknown, won that nomination Tuesday with 8,293 votes, but Sharp polled 6,334 despite his unresolved criminal case.

Sharp said he viewed his vote total as a "vote of confidence" from constituents. But he added that he felt the criminal charges had "a lot to do" with his defeat.

"That's all it was," interjected the campaign manager.

"Yes," said Sharp. "That's how we feel."

The councilman also denounced an Independent, Press-Telegram editorial that called on him to drop out of the Assembly race at its peak. Kral echoed that opinion.

Shortly after Sharp's arrest on the stolen property charges last April, Kral said, they met with Republican Party leaders in the Long Beach area.

Sharp then offered to drop from the race if they thought his candidacy was hurting the party, but those leaders "unanimously" urged him to continue his campaign, Kral said.

The combination of the political loss and unresolved criminal case will not affect his plans as a councilman, Sharp said.

"I will continue to fulfill my job as councilman in the Seventh District, to represent the people," said Sharp. Added Kral: "And he'll run for re-election next year in this same position."

During his court appearance, Sharp sat silently for more than a half-hour of arguments by the two attorneys.

The councilman faces two counts of receiving stolen property and one of attempting to receive stolen property, filed against him after his arrest at his harbor area restaurant by district attorney's investigators.

It was the "attempt" charge over which the attorneys argued Friday.

George cited nearly a dozen cases he said were generally similar to Sharp's, but he told the court only one of those cases could really be used as a standard for considering whether to dismiss the charge.

George cited a 1967 case in which he said undercover police told a Stockton man they would sell him stolen goods when in fact the goods weren't stolen.

In Sharp's case, the attorney added, district attorney's investigators had purchased "with county funds" some stereo gear, which then allegedly was offered to Sharp as a good deal in stolen merchandise.

Prosecutor Marcus argued in turn that the real point of the charge was the intent of the defendant in allegedly agreeing to the deal.

Marcus also cited several cases which he said supported his interpretation of the case, and noted he had cited them in earlier hearings in the Sharp case.

The charge of attempted receipt of stolen property was initially dismissed as a point of law by Los Angeles Municipal Court Judge Nathan Axel, who presided over Sharp's preliminary hearing.

Marcus disputed the ruling and later refilled the charge against Sharp.

Another of the three charges was the result of a county grand jury indictment, sought by the prosecutor last month after the preliminary hearing.

At that hearing, confessed burglar Donald Stokes testified he had been dealing with the five-year council member for stolen goods "since before he became a councilman."

Brown leading Flournoy by 8%

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Democrat Edmund G. Brown Jr. leads Republican Houston Flournoy by 8 per cent in the second California governorship race in 44 years in which the incumbent was not running, the California Poll reported Friday.

Secretary of State Brown polled 47 per cent and Controller Flournoy 39 per cent in a statewide opinion sampling taken just before Tuesday's primary election, poll director Mervin R. Field said. The sample showed 14 per cent undecided.

The governorship race is the first since 1958 without an incumbent running for re-election. In that year incumbent Republican Goodwin J. Knight ran for the U.S. Senate, and Democrats won both the governor and Senate races.

BROWN was backed by 69 per cent of Democrats, but 17 per cent said before the primary that they would vote for Flournoy in November.

"Counterbalancing this, however, 16 per cent of Republicans indicate a preference for Brown over Flournoy," Field said.

But 74 per cent of Republicans say they would vote for the GOP nominee.

Field said significant differences exist in current support levels among varied groups for the two candidates.

Whites split 43-42 per cent between Brown and Flournoy. Whites account for 85 per cent of the state's registered voters.

"Among blacks and Mexican-Americans Brown has an overwhelming edge, drawing better than 80 per cent of the support from these two minority groups," Field reported.

Brown led by 11 per cent in Northern California and by 5 per cent in Southern California.

VOTERS between 18 and 34 heavily prefer Brown while elderly voters favor Flournoy. Voters in union households back Brown 2-1, Field said.

He reported liberal Democrats favor Brown by 8-1 while conservative Republicans back Flournoy 9-1.

The poll was based in interviews with 851 Democrats, 617 Republicans, and 64 others registered in other parties or refusing to state a preference.

Flournoy: 63.2% of vote; Brown: 37.8%

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Final unofficial primary election results Friday showed Edmund G. Brown Jr. received 37.8 per cent of the vote in winning the Democratic gubernatorial contest and Houston I. Flournoy won the Republican race with 63.2 per cent.

Brown had 1,055,039 votes and Flournoy 1,138,173, according to the secretary of state's office.

Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke received 545,261 or 30.3 per cent in the GOP primary.

THE DEMOCRATIC runners-up were: San Francisco Mayor Joseph Alioto, 531,860 votes (18.9 per cent); Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti, 469,877 (16.7 per cent); William Matson Roth, 290,995 (10.3 per cent); Rep. Jerome Waldie of Antioch, 214,349 (7.6 per cent); Los Angeles County Supervisor Baxter Ward 78,347 (2.8 per cent), and Claremont attorney Herb Hafif, 76,210 (2.7 per cent).

Here are the final results for other statewide offices and propositions:

Lieutenant governor: Democrats—Sen. Mervyn M. Dymally, 758,061 (29.9 per cent); Sen. Lawrence Walsh, 618,511 (24.4 per cent); Howard Miller, 433,141 (17.1 per cent).

Republicans—Sen. John L. Harmer, 939,740 (36.8 per cent); John Veneman, 715,961 (43.2 per cent).

Secretary of State:

Democrats—Assemblywoman March K. Fong, 723,896 (28.7 per cent); Assemblyman Walter Karabian, 680,900 (27 per cent); Cathy O'Neill, 635,921 (25.2 per cent).

Republicans—Brian Van Camp, 506,224 (34 per cent); Michael Montgomery, 337,505 (22.6 per cent); Wendell Handy, 212,417 (14.3 per cent).

Controller: Democrats—Assemblyman Kenneth Cory, 1,115,700 (44.5 per cent); San Francisco Supervisor Robert Mendelsohn, 813,517 (32.5 per cent); Bert A. Betts, 292,462 (11.7 per cent).

Republicans—Assemblyman William T. Bagley, 875,592 (51.8 per cent); James L. Flournoy, 488,995 (28.7 per cent); Marian LaFollette, 329,711 (19.5 per cent).

Treasurer: Democrats—Jess Unruh, 1,161,546 (45.5 per cent); Gray Davis, 567,509 (22.2 per cent); Sen. Alan Short, 566,376 (22.2 per cent).

Republicans—John T. Kehoe, 542,925 (36.5 per cent); Henry Quigley, 437,927 (29.5 per cent).

Attorney General: Democrats—William Norris, 1,375,466 (57.7 per cent); Vincent Bugliosi, 1,009,995 (42.3 per cent).

Republicans—Evelle Younger, 1,627,481 (100 per cent).

Superintendent of Public Instruction (non partisan):

Wilson Riles, 2,939,748 (87.7 per cent); Warren Linville, 353,666 (8.2 per cent); Everett Calvert, 334,155 (7.7 per cent).

Propositions: One (Recreational Bonds): For 2,507,300 (50.9 per cent); against 1,749,008 (40.1 per cent).

Two (Water bonds): For 3,076,866 (70.5 per cent); against 1,288,038 (29.5 per cent).

Three (Veterans bonds): For 3,163,397 (72.3 per cent); against 1,214,586 (27.7 per cent).

Four (Tax reassessment): For 3,408,406 (78.9 per cent); against 910,376 (21.1 per cent).

Flournoy committed to Reagan policy, foe says

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Democratic gubernatorial candidate Edmund G. Brown Jr. said Friday that Houston Flournoy has promised to continue Gov. Reagan's philosophy in return for financial support by Reagan supporters.

Brown made the statement at a joint news conference with William Matson Roth, whom he defeated in the Democratic primary.

"Although he's an independent," Brown said, "I think Mr. Flournoy is committed to carrying on the Reagan philosophy. His major backers were the same backers of Richard Nixon. At a secret meeting in San Francisco, he agreed to carry on the Reagan philosophy in return for campaign funds."

sition by Flournoy to Prop. 9 and what he said was Flournoy's refusal to speak out on Watergate and President Nixon were examples of that philosophy.

"I'm a representative of the new political spirit, as Bill Roth was," Brown said. "The retrenchment and stagnation of the Reagan years has to be changed. Mr. Flournoy represents no significant departure from the Reagan policies."

Asked how he felt about the polls showing him only 8 per cent ahead of Flournoy, Brown said, "I feel very good. I think it augers very well."

Brown said he had spoken to all the Democrats who ran against him in the primary, and all have agreed to support

YOUR HOROSCOPE by JEANE DIXON

Forecast for Sunday

Your birthday today: Life flows swiftly and deeply throughout this year and you tend to be swept along into a simpler way of daily existence. What you have learned thus far comes into more coherent application. Relationships include many memorable moments of sharing. Today's natives have ardent, enthusiastic qualities and lasting emotional attachments.

Aries (March 21-April 19): Be up and about bright and early, do your bit for your community. Relatives are congenial, although they do expect you to take initiative.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): Much is hoped for in social activity, little is actually achieved. Take time to look up people who have special knowledge, cultivate their good will.

Gemini (May 21-June 20): Travel and social arrangements are subject to delay. Proceed at a calm and leisurely pace once you've verified details. Late in the day, personal wishes may come true.

Cancer (June 21-July 22): Following advice leads into a too-many-cooks situation, financial confusion or extra expense. It's a good day for renewing old acquaintance, visiting those less fortunate.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22): Accept this moderate day as a personal brief vacation, do as little as may get you by. Loved ones are sensitive, awaiting expression of your feelings.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): No body wants to do anything the way you want it done. Make needed adjustments and get on without complaints. Later hours find you verifying facts, figures.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Go through the day on the surface, not forcing issues or seeking elaborate fulfillments. Public entertainments form a good entertainment background. Late hour conversations are important.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Realignment of relationships comes naturally under today's stimuli. Line up facts and figures so you know where you are, what you have to work with.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Pull in your horns, make this a minimal Sunday of conserved energy, improving resources. A little sports activity or your favorite pastime is great for afternoon.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): The day seems so tightly organized you may as well accept it as a day of work with untypical duties, many of them, to attend. Keep the sequence going right.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Almost anything will do to set off a dissenting viewpoint, endless rounds of critical conversation. It's up to you to keep things simple.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20): Prefer a middle course, avoiding extremes of behavior and action. By the time you've heard all sides of every story evening finds you thankful you've made it so well.

Mint hails easing of penny shortage

WASHINGTON (AP) — The director of the Mint said Friday the government's get-out-the-penny campaign appears to be easing the shortage in the lowly coin.

Mary T. Brooks said that the first full week of the campaign has already shown signs that people are returning to circulation numbers of the estimated 30 billion pennies squirreled away in jars and dresser drawers.

"I'm so thrilled at the response we've been getting," she said. "It's been marvelous."

Mrs. Brooks had no specific figures on penny circulation, but she said a Mint survey of chain stores shows the situation is easing. Some stores resorted to offering paper scrip in lieu of giving pennies for change. Other stores offered discounts for purchases with pennies.

And banks began this week offering government-engraved certificates of commendation to people who cashed in $25 worth or more in pennies.

The shortage has been attributed to hoarding in expectation of rising copper prices, but copper prices have turned downward lately.

"The average citizen is mad about so many things," said Mrs. Brooks. "This is just a little thing he can do."

Wage escalator bill urged by Mansfield

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Mike Mansfield introduced a bill Friday requiring that American workers' wages be raised $1 for each $1 increase in the cost of living.

Mansfield, the Senate Democratic leader, said the proposal is not a panacea for curing inflation.

But he added, he hopes it can serve as a point of discussion "so that this most pervasive national problem can be given the attention at the highest levels that it so rightly deserves."

The automatic cost-of-living raise would apply to every worker covered under the Social Security system.

Employers would be required to pay the raises at least once a year. The raises would be computed on the basis of increases in the Consumer Price Index. The bill makes no attempt to regulate prices.

In introducing the bill, Mansfield noted that inflation increased during the first three months of this year at an annual rate of 14.2 per cent. He said the stock market is down, production is lagging, prices are outstripping wages for the 13th straight month and workers' families have approximately six per cent less to spend than a year ago.

"If the present trend continues, Americans will have to make twice what they are making today in 1980 just to keep even," Mansfield said.

In recent weeks the Montana Democrat has been calling for discussion of "indexing" as an answer to inflation. In Brazil, where indexing is used, wages, taxes and interest rates are moved up or down depending on inflation.

Mansfield said he considered and rejected a plan to raise the yields of government securities as inflation increases. He noted that Sen. James Buckley, the New York Republican and Conservative, has proposed adjusting the federal tax to compensate for a rise in inflation.

Mansfield urged quick consideration of such suggestions as ways of providing a national discussion on defeating inflation.

Mills still seeking better health plan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Chairman Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., of the House Ways and Means Committee said Friday he is not fully satisfied with either of the two national health insurance bills he has introduced in Congress.

But he said he hoped his compromise bill with Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., would at least prevent Congress from passing an insurance bill that merely would protect against the catastrophic costs of major illnesses.

"CATASTROPHIC insurance is like putting up a roof," Mills said at a hearing. "But I think we need the floor and the walls along with the roof."

Mills also introduced on request the Nixon administration's proposal which would require employers to offer their workers health care coverage provided by private insurance companies. The Kennedy-Mills bill would be financed by a 4 per cent payroll tax and administered through the Social Security system. Costs would be similar.

Mills appeared receptive to a suggestion from the 50,000 member American Public Health Association that Congress should require coverage of preventive health care service in whatever health bill it passes.

Where these services are not available privately, "the government must serve, then, as the provider of last resort...the ultimate guarantor of the nation's health," testified Dr. C. Arden Miller, APHA president-elect.

Mills asked the association of public health doctors, nurses and sanitarians to work with the House committee in developing an adequate package of preventive services.

"IF THERE is one fault with all the bills introduced, it is the inadequacy of the machinery necessary to keep people mobile and to prevent the occurrence of disease in the first place," Mills said.

Mills said that one problem he has with the administration's bill is understanding how it could be administered by the states.

The Kennedy-Mills bill, he told another witness, "is a compromise and it's still subject to further compromise in the committee."

Nation's 2nd largest bank cuts prime rate

NEW YORK (UPI) — First National City Bank of New York, the nation's second largest, Friday cut by one-quarter point to 11 1/4 per cent its prime lending rate, a sign soaring interest rates may have peaked.

Citibank's move was followed by Michigan National Bank of Detroit, which had been at 11 3/4 along with First of Chicago, cutting back to 11 1/4. Four smaller banks dropped the rate earlier in the week.

The news sent stock prices sharply higher in an active session on the New York Stock Exchange, climaxing a four-day rise, which made the biggest gain in history for the week.

Lead-free gasoline prices blasted by GM

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors says service stations selling unleaded gasoline at premium-grade prices are charging too much.

Lead-free fuel currently costs an average two to four cents a gallon more than regular fuel, but GM says both grades should cost the same.

"The pricing is a little disturbing to us," Executive Vice President E. M. "Pete" Estes said Friday.

Except for the initial expense of increasing production and distribution of lead-free fuel this fall, he said, "I am not sure we understand why unleaded costs more."

All of GM's 1975-model cars and most of the other auto companies' models will require unleaded fuel because they will be equipped with catalytic converters, which can be poisoned by lead. The muffler-like converters are being installed to reduce exhaust pollution levels.

Estes said the engines of GM cars were redesigned in 1970 so they could run on a low 91-octane grade of unleaded gasoline.

Before then small car engines required 94-95 octane fuel while big engines needed 99-100 octane premium grade gasoline. Lead was added to achieve the regular-grade octane level and again to boost octane the additionof four to six numbers for premium-grade.

Octane refers to a rating of a fuel's ability to reduce damaging engine knock — premature fuel combustion that prevents smooth operation of the engine. Lead additives reduce engine knock, but they also increase gasoline prices.

Estes conceded there might be a slight additional cost for refining unleaded gasoline to obtain the 91-rating but no more than the cost of adding lead to obtain the 94-95 octane level.

Estes pointed to a study it commissioned from a Cambridge, Mass., research firm in support of the firm's contention that drivers are being overcharged for unleaded fuel. The study report prepared by Arthur D. Little Inc., states: "Our results showed that up to 80 per cent of the total gasoline pool (the base fuel before lead is added) could be produced as a lead-free grade meeting present volatility standards with no decrease in total gasoline production volume and at essentially no increased manufacturing cost."

Promised windfall, no easing of shortage

Oil price hike OK questioned

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government staff experts viewed authorization of a dollar-a-barrel oil price increase last December as an arbitrary choice, unlikely to ease shortages but promising the industry some $3 billion a year in windfall profits.

Their opinions are in staff reports, made public Friday, which Cost of Living Council Director John T. Dunlop said "provided the basic data and analysis for the decision."

The documents were provided by the Cost of Living Council to consumer advocate Ralph Nader, who sent copies to the Senate Interior Committee just as it opened hearing on the confirmation of John C. Sawhill to head the new Federal Energy Administration.

Price controls over petroleum have been transferred from the council to the energy office.

Committee chairman Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., citing the documents, told Sawhill, "I can see no justification for maintaining" the price increase.

Sawhill countered that the $1 increase appeared fairly small compared with the far higher price increases of foreign oil.

The Cost of Living Council documents also revealed that last December President Nixon's chief economic adviser, Herbert Stein, wanted permission for U.S. oil prices, then held at $4.25 a barrel, to soar to $12 a barrel, to discourage demand and avoid gasoline rationing.

Said Jackson, "This is incredible for someone who is supposed to be looking out for consumers."

In fact, the administration allowed the price of domestic "old oil" to rise from $4.25 to $5.25 a barrel last Dec. 19; newly discovered oil and oil produced from small "stripper" wells were not subject to federal price control.

The council staff reported last Dec. 7 that an "old oil" increase "would not materially increase production, at least in the immediate future," but "would mean increased profits for producers."

It estimated a $1-a-barrel price increase would increase industry gross profits by some $256 million a month.

If so, it has already cost the public some $1.4 billion since December.

On the positive side, the staff said the price hike might discourage the development of substantial oil exports.

Another report to the Cost of Living Council by the Stanford Research Institute said a price in-

U.S. firms to pay more for Jamaican bauxite

KINGSTON, Jamaica (AP) — The Jamaican Senate approved a bill Friday that will more than quadruple the money Jamaica receives from American companies for bauxite, the raw material of aluminum.

The bill was directed at six North American aluminum companies that mine bauxite on the Caribbean island, the world's largest producer of the ore.

The new law will increase the levy on each ton of bauxite exported from Jamaica from $2.50 to $11.72. Royalties paid to the government will go up from 28 cents to 56 cents a ton.

Atlantic competitors hit in youth air fare plea

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Citing unfair competition from abroad, Pan American World Airways and Trans World Airlines Friday asked the Civil Aeronautics Board to reinstate transatlantic youth fares, effective June 15.

Filing separate statements with the CAB, both carriers cited the youth fares available on flights from Canada and Mexico to Europe.

Said a Pan Am spokesman: "Since the termination of transatlantic youth fares last Jan. 1, an uncompetitive fare situation exists because such fares are still in effect..."

The "evasions and avoidances of the CAB prohibition on youth fares...have resulted in diversion of U.S. flag traffic and revenue to foreign flag competitors."

TWA pointed out "that Canada-Europe traffic increased 13 per cent in the first quarter of 1974 while U.S.-Europe traffic showed a 4.6 per cent decline...The board must now recognize...the very fact that traffic can and is being diverted to Canada, where youth fares are available, is reason enough for allowing U.S. flag carrier participation in this market."

TWA also cited "...the use of illegal devices to market youth fares" which, it said, "has resulted in a loss of revenue to TWA at a time when seriously declining profitability has forced U.S. flag carriers to seek government assistance."

Pan Am specifically criticized the program of KLM, the Dutch national airline, and the Netherlands National Tourist Office which offer $50 to youth fare passengers who travel on KLM from the United States to Amsterdam. To get the money, youths simply complete a form about their travel plans. A Pan Am spokesman said the airline believes the KLM plan is illegal.

Pan Am also said it was filing the request "for competitive reasons to match fares earlier proposed by Trans World Airlines."

Pan Am asked that youth fares be reinstated through Oct. 31, 1974. Under its proposal, a round-trip, peak season youth fare ticket from New York to London would cost $333; from New York to Amsterdam, $340, and from New York to Rome, $348.

TWA proposed to offer a $333 round-trip fare from New York to London during the peak season—June-August eastbound, and July-September westbound, and a $293 round-trip fare for the rest of the year.

There would be no minimum stay requirement and the ticket would be valid for one year.

Last winter, the CAB rejected requests to reinstate youth fares by both Pan Am and TWA.

Fees for entering U.S. parks on tap

By GIL BAILEY
Our National Bureau

WASHINGTON — The National Park Service, under the authority of the new Land and Water Conservation Act signed Friday by President Nixon, will begin charging entrance fees at the busiest national parks.

The charges will range from $1 to $3, Ronald Walker, director of the park service, told a news conference.

He estimated that the fees will bring in more than $15 million per year.

Special free park passports for those over 65 and the $10 Golden Eagle Passport will still be available.

In addition a nationwide reservation system for campsites at 21 of the major national parks will be set up shortly, using a private business. There will be a $1.50 charge for the reservations in addition to the entrance fee.

Walker predicted an increase in park usage despite the remains of the energy crisis. He suggested that park users investigate some of the lesser known parks close to their homes.

He said he does not want to set limits on national park use.

"I'm not in favor of assigning a carrying capacity to parks," Walker said. "I think there are other things we can do."

Walker noted that crime and violence in the parks has decreased in the last two years since some park rangers have been assigned law enforcement duties and have been armed.

Walker hopes to increase the manpower of the park service because of the law enforcement function. He said some of its other duties, including nature interpretation, has been cut back because of the need for patrols.

Transit bill critic cites fund inequity

Our National Bureau

WASHINGTON — The Federal Mass Transportation Act of 1974 is becoming a "ball-out bill for the nine established and inefficient mass transit systems," representatives of other major metropolitan areas charged Friday.

The majority of the funds in the bill—estimated at $19 to $20 billion over six years—would go to the established systems in such cities as New York, Chicago, Cleveland and San Francisco, claimed Howard Watkins, Washington representative of Santa Clara County, California.

"As a result most of the nation's metropolitan areas just won't get the funds they need to create new and workable systems," Watkins said.

He noted that his area, the Los Angeles and San Diego areas, and other major metropolitan complexes including Minneapolis-St. Paul, Duluth and Denver-Boulder would be "shortchanged" under the current staff proposal of the House Public Works Committee.

"It is difficult to imagine that the intent of the Congress will be to plow massive amounts of money into bailing out antiquated and inefficient systems, rather than make adequate funding available to produce exciting new public transportation systems in urban complexes throughout the nation," Watkins said in a letter to California members of the House Public Works Committee.

He said he had been told that the nine cities with established systems would receive up to $2 billion per year while the 243 other urban areas in the nation would receive only $750,000 per year to meet their mass transit needs.

In areas such as Los Angeles-Long Beach-Pasadena or metropolitan San Jose, which face tough smog problems, such an allocation of money would not finance an adequate transit system he said.

Watkins said that under the original concept of the bill Santa Clara County would have received an estimated $15 million per year but under the concepts now under study that figure would be reduced to $4 million.

The Public Works Committee is under heavy pressure from New York for help with its costly mass transit system. In addition, transit systems such as the San Francisco Bay Area Rapid Transit District faces huge deficits.

The battle between the established systems and metropolitan areas which hope to establish new systems is critical. Unless massive federal help is forthcoming many metropolitan areas have said they cannot finance construction of transit systems.

Envoy Keating marries at 74

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Kenneth B. Keating, U.S. ambassador to Israel, married Mary Pilearin Davis Friday night in Princeton, N.J., it was announced.

Mrs. Davis is the widow of Wendell Davis, a New York City lawyer who was a classmate of Keating's at Harvard Law School in the early 1920s. Davis died about two years ago.

Keating's first wife, Louise, died Sept. 17, 1968. Keating, 74, of Rochester, is a former congressman and U.S. senator from New York.

Most clowns cry inside, doctor says

New York Times Service

NEW YORK — After intensive interviews and testing of 55 nationally known comedians — including nearly all of the biggest names in the business — a New York Clinical psychologist, who, while a student, worked as a song and dance man of the Catskills Borscht circuit, has concluded what most of us have long felt, that the vast majority of funny men are sad men.

When offstage, most comedians, he has found, are severely depressed, anxious and fearful. Making jokes is their way of defending against what they see as a hostile and inhumane world. And the laughter and love of the audience is what keeps them going.

"There are numerous indications," said Dr. Samuel S. Janus, "that many of our top comedians, if one listens to their routines, are really crying out loud."

AMONG THE comments Dr. Janus has gathered is that of Abe Burrows, who said, "The comedian must practice his comedy in order to avoid destroying himself."

Jack Carter, known as one of the most sarcastic of comedians says, "The funny part, the laughter, is given to the audience, but the comedian is left with the bitter dregs."

Dr. Janus, a clinical assistant professor of psychiatry at New York Medical College, said his findings show that comedians, as a whole, have come from lowerclass backgrounds and struggled against a world that they felt never understood them. All were above average in intelligence, with the average IQ being 138. Many experienced severe psychological trauma in childhood.

"Life always seemed to the comics to present situations in which they were misunderstood, and picked on, or belittled," Dr. Janus said.

In many cases, they make jokes about things against which they feel powerless. Dr. Janus said that although the remarks may be clever and humorous, they often actually voice a deeply felt rage.

a specialized course for teachers

SUMMER SESSION — JUNE 17 - JULY 5, 1974

3 Weeks/3 Units Upper Division Credit in Elementary/Secondary/Journalism

The ever-present need to motivate students makes the use of contemporary, non-text materials such as newspapers an important educational resource. Teachers will develop a new awareness of the newspaper as a creative, innovative teaching aid. Lectures and hand-out material by professional journalists and educators will provide many new ideas for meeting the challenge of a changing curriculum.

Course Coordinator is Glada Thrall, Milken High School.

Earl Wilson Jo Ann Pflug raises battle cry

NEW YORK — The familiar gripe of the ladies, that men don't write movies for women any more, was turned into a war cry by actress Jo Ann Pflug who charges that a recent count showed 21 leading men to 5 leading women — "and the leading ladies were all prostitutes or Tanya Tagalongs who had to wait in the car while the man said, 'You wouldn't understand.'"

Jo Ann — who played the sexy nurse "L.L. Dish" in the film "M-A-S-H" — asks, "Do the writers really think women don't do anything?"

And being a comedienne — "Id like to do Kay Kendall-Carole Lombard things" — is hard because, though she never says so herself, others maintain that she's too pretty. "Id like to be elegant and chic, elegant but klutzy," she says. A pratfall would be ok (in an evening gown).

Jo Ann came here for the "$10,000 Pyramid" TV show. "Id didn't win any money," she says. That reminded her of an appearance on "Password."

She was unknown, she was broke, she needed to win something. She won no money but she did win a camera. Somebody stole it.

ETHEL MERMAN isn't happy with Julie Styne, who starred her so successfully in "Gypsy" and will use Angela Lansbury in a new tour. "The Merm" was conspicuously absent from the big tribute to Styne. She was hurt by some quotes that she considered uncomplimentary to her performance. Miss Merman gives one day a week in the gift shop at Roosevelt Hospital (proceeds to the hospital). People she serves are shaken when they see her and say, "Do you know you look like Ethel Merman?" When she answers, they know.

Some of Richard Burton's friends here say he must be sicker than they thought, the way he ignored them when he came through NY. They were deeply hurt — "not even a call," said one ... The Friars' 61st birthday party for Sammy Cahn June 17 got so big it is being moved to the Plaza from the club ... Terry Allen Kramer (Mrs. Irwin) and Harry Rigby, who are producing "Dracula" next, got Frank Dunlop for their director hot on the heels of his success with "Scapino" ... Dinah Shore's friends are furious, claiming she got notified of her TV cancellation by telegram (not even over an expensive luncheon). Even Burt Reynolds was upset.

When Frank Sinatra opens in the main room at Harrah's Tahoe July 31, FS Jr. "ll be working in the lounge. (A first?) ... Marlo Thomas'll miss a performance of "Thieves" Tuesday; she'll be at the Emmy Awards in LA, where her "Free to Be You and Me" is up for an award.

JO ANN PFLUG Wants 'Roles for Women'

'Uncle Miltie' — naked

By BOB THOMAS
 HOLLYWOOD (R) — The dedication of Milton Berle's autobiography reads: "To the funny men ... who were, who are, who will be ... heroes who faced the world naked, but for the weapon of laughter."

Berle has finished a 2½-year task of summing up his life, and he asserts that readers will discover the naked Berle, without the cover-up of his brash, breezy comedies.

"They won't be calling me 'Uncle Miltie' any more," said the comedian. "I tell the story of the kind of crazy life-style that comedians have to lead, appearing naked before every audience. There is also a strong silver-cord story about my mother and myself."

"My mother — God bless her — was mother, father, wife, sweetheart, everything to me. But here's no hint of incest; this is no 'Oedipus Rex.'"

Berle was carrying galleys proofs of "My Autobiography," which he wrote with magazine editor Haskell Frankel. It will be published by Delacorte on Oct. 28.

Unlike other show biz confessionals, this one is no conquest of alcoholism — "I never drank in my life, never liked the taste." Nor was Berle ever on dope — "I was hooked on show business."

Although he said the book will not be X-rated, he admitted that it will depict his romantic career, beginning with his loss of virginity at 12.

HE WILL also tell about his brushes with the Mafia, which owned many of the night clubs in which he appeared. In 1931 his throat was slashed by a hoodlum.

Etched tools solve burglaries

By KRIS SHERMAN
Staff Writer

A California driver's license number, etched into some tools with an electric engraving pencil, led Long Beach police Friday to the owners of stolen property valued at $12,000.

The tools, taken during several burglaries, had been recovered earlier in the day with the arrest of a man suspected of receiving stolen property, said Det. Paul Chastain.

The receiver, whose name was not released, was allegedly in possession of numerous pneumatic power tools, including impact wrenches, Chastain said.

He said the tools were taken to the Long Beach police station, where officers discovered some of them bore the name of Tom Herron, along with a driver's license number. The name and number had been etched into the metal with an engraving pencil.

Chastain said a routine check with the Department of Motor Vehicles showed the driver's license number was issued to Tom Herron of Bellflower.

Herron could not be located at the address supplied by the DMV, but officers learned he had moved, the detective said. So they took their search to sheriff's deputies, who patrol Bellflower and surrounding communities from the Lakewood substation.

Deputies checked their crime reports and discovered that a Tom Herron, employed by the M & M Carriage Company, 15732 Vermont Ave., Paramount, was listed as an "additional victim" in two recent burglaries of the firm.

Through Herron, Chastain said, detectives established the ownership of the recovered tools. All had been taken in the two burglaries of the company.

Some of the tools belonged to the company, while others were the property of several of Herron's coworkers, Chastain said. A spokesman for the company said the replacement cost of the stolen tools was approximately $12,000.

"If one man hadn't had his name and driver's license number on those tools, we would never have located the owners of all of that property we recovered today," Chastain said Friday.

He added, "Any citizen who wants to can come to the police station and borrow an engraving instrument to engrave his property — tools, stereos, television sets, anything valuable. Then if it's stolen, and we recover it, it can be returned to the owner. Otherwise, there's not much we can do."

Chastain said the engraving pencil loan program, known as Operation Identification, is sponsored by the police department's Crime Prevention Unit and local Independent Insurance Agents.

Persons who want to borrow one of the pencils should contact Sgt. Jack Greenleaf or Det. Larry Rhodes at the police station, Chastain said.

"This is the first time that we've ever been able to do this (locate the owners of recovered stolen property), and it's one hell of a good example of what we can do for the citizens out there if they will only engrave their property," Chastain said.

Edison seeking 21% rate hike

The Southern California Edison Co. — which serves Long Beach and other Southland cities — Friday asked the California Public Utilities Commission for a 21 per cent increase in electric rates.

The rate hike, if granted, would be reflected in the 1976 bills of the utility's customers.

A typical residential customer using 500 kilowatt hours monthly would pay about 15 cents a day more for service, the company said.

Edison officials said the petition for a rate increase was filed Friday because of the lead time required. They said it usually takes 12 to 18 months for PUC review and public hearings.

Jack K. Horton, Southern California Edison chairman and chief executive officer, said:

"Edison's rate request is necessary because it is facing similar increases in the cost of providing electric service, including record high interest rates, substantial increases in the cost of labor and materials, higher taxes, and enormous environmental and research and development costs."

The proposed increase would add approximately $339 million to the company's electric revenues.

Phony story works for thief

A burglar who got his victim out her apartment with a phony story about a fire next door took a radio and wallet from the home of Letha Murray, 4228 Lakewood Blvd., Long Beach police reported Friday.

St. Clair lectured on contempt Court in warning to Nixon

By MIKE SHANAHAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon risks "appropriate procedures under the contempt statutes" by refusing to allow full access to White House documents wanted in the Plumbers trial, U.S. District Judge Gerhard A. Gesell declared Friday.

Gesell, in a stern lecture to the President's chief lawyer, James D. St. Clair, said that Nixon's shielding of the materials "borders on obstruction" of justice.

"I don't think he understands the consequences of what he is doing," said Gesell of the President.

The judge said Nixon and St. Clair had broken an agreement under which defense lawyers would be able to accompany John D. Ehrlichman in a review of handwritten notes Ehrlichman left behind at the White House.

Rebuking St. Clair, Gesell said, "When you make a commitment in open court, you make it to me. You broke it."

SECRECY LIFTED

of Nixon's top presidential and campaign aides March 1. In doing so, it gave a sealed report — now presumed to be the list of unindicted co-conspirators — to Sirica who in turn gave it to the House Judiciary Committee for its impeachment inquiry.

After newspaper reports this week that Nixon was on the list, St. Clair asked Sirica to lift the protective order.

The matter came to a head as a result of Jaworski's subpoena of White House documents in April.

Opposed by White House lawyers, Jaworski argued privately before Sirica in May that Nixon's nomination as an unindicted co-conspirator increased the need to obtain the subpoenaed White House documents.

SIRICA Friday unsealed all the arguments and briefs related to this debate, justifying his original decision to keep them secret by saying: "All of these were sealed in the interest of fairness to the President in the impeachment proceedings."

But the Supreme Court has had custody of the documents since it agreed last week to consider directly Jaworski's suit for subpoenaed presidential tapes, which Nixon has refused to surrender.

Philip Lacovara, a Jaworski assistant, said Jaworski has asked the Supreme Court for instructions on how to proceed in the light of Sirica's decision.

Maheu witness alters testimony

United Press International

A witness at the trial of Robert A. Maheu's $17.5-million libel suit against Howard Hughes changed his testimony Friday regarding $50,000 of the billionaire's money that Hughes claims is missing.

In testimony last March, John Ianni, a former employee at the Hughes-owned Sands Hotel in Las Vegas, said he delivered the $50,000 to Maheu in a sealed package in December 1969.

Maheu, former chief of Hughes' Nevada empire, has contended he never received the money, but attorneys for Hughes claim Maheu pocketed the money.

Ianni testified last March that the package was a 5-by-7-inch envelope with $50,000 written on the corner.

LAST MAY, attorneys for Maheu placed in evidence a stack of 500 $1 bills and a 5-by-7-inch envelope, in an attempt to show that an identically sized package of $100 bills would not fit.

Ianni reversed his testimony Friday, saying he was in error about the size of the package and the envelope actually was 7½ inches by 10½ inches.

Ianni explained that he changed his testimony after receiving a letter from Hughes' counsel Howard Jaffe, who mailed him a selection of envelopes along with a mock-up stack of bills.

The witness said his memory was then refreshed that the envelope had been larger.

MAHEU IS suing Hughes over the billionaire's public statement that Maheu was dishonest and "he stole me blind."

After Friday's session, U.S. District Court Judge Harry Pregerson ordered attorneys to bring Hughes' staff member Kay Glenn to court for questioning Tuesday about the whereabouts of hundreds of Hughes' handwritten memoranda.

Maheu's attorneys have demanded that Summa Corp. produce the documents to prove that Hughes actually said Maheu was cheating him.

So far, Summa has introduced only one memo critical of Maheu, despite the judge's insistence that they be produced.

AID TO ISRAEL

Egypt and Syria. Moreover, there was concern expressed in Israel over America's commitment to Israel's security, given the improved Arab-American ties.

The diplomatic sources said that Israeli leaders stressed the need for a long-term continuing relationship in which they would be guaranteed a complete arms program at a set rate, without the inevitable haggling that sets in every few years whenever the Israelis have sought new purchases.

One source said the Israelis were thinking of a 10-year program, but American officials said they understood the new program would be worked out on the basis of five-year arrangements.

No details have been worked out, American officials said. In the latest foreign aid package, Kissinger noted that the United States was seeking to make available to Israel $350 million in grants and credits "to enable it to continue purchasing vitally needed military equipment from the United States and to relieve it of some of the burden of its onerous defense costs."

"This would be a significant demonstration of our steadfast support for Israel's security," he said.

In the same package, the administration was seeking $207 million in grants and credits for Jordan, $250 million in economic aid to Egypt and $100 million in a "special requirement fund" from which Syria could be eligible once the Golan Heights disengagement was carried out.

Kissinger underscored the importance of the aid for Egypt, which would be used mostly in rebuilding the Suez Canal and the populated areas nearby. He noted the "dramatic turn" in Cairo's policy away from complete reliance on the Soviet Union and the need for giving American backing for Egypt's "bold decision to move from confrontation to negotiation as a means of resolving the Arab-Israeli dispute."

The White House policy of narrowly limiting Ehrlichman's access to materials he may need for a fair trial is "totally offensive," Gesell said. "It borders on obstruction."

In the Plumbers case, Ehrlichman, G. Gordon Liddy and two others are accused in the 1971 break-in at the office of Dr. Lewis Fielding, Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist.

The trial, based on charges that Fielding's civil rights were violated, is scheduled to begin June 17.

To White House claims that some material Ehrlichman seeks contains highly classified national security information, Gesell has offered to review the documents in a closed hearing.

Gesell said "The position by the President that he will not allow this man to be represented by his counsel is offensive."

Referring to St. Clair's reputation as a distinguished trial lawyer, Gesell said, "When your better instincts gain control, you will know it's wrong; we all know it's wrong."

PATTY 'LOVE TIE' TO SLA

she called Weed a "clown" and an "ageist, sexist pig." She referred to him as her "ex-fiance."

Wolfe dropped out of sight Jan. 11, after a visit to his father in Allentown, Pa. He received a long distance phone call at the home of his father, Dr. L. S. Wolfe, and said he was taking a bus to New York.

The day he disappeared was just after the arrest of Russell Little and Joseph Remiro for the alleged assassination of Oakland school chief Marcus Foster. He wasn't heard from again until his body was pulled from the devastated house in Los Angeles with the other dead SLA members.

Wolfe and Donald DeFreeze were killed along with four women in the Los Angeles shootout and on the tape Miss Hearst spoke of "Kujo" in the past tense.

"Kujo conquered all," she said. "We had never loved an individual the way we loved each other. Our relationship was commitment to the struggle and love for the people."

Wolfe, who dropped out of the University of California and had worked in a machine parts factory prior to joining the SLA, was described by his step-mother as an "angry young man."

She said that in 1970 he bummed around Europe nine months, "seeing a lot of poverty and traveling around on 10 cents a day and seeing how people were living, comparing it to our affluence."

Roxanna, Wolfe's older sister, said her brother once complained: "All you people ever do is sit around and drink and booze and smoke cigarettes and have a good time."

"You flaunt your money and you live high. Your income is outrageous. All you need to live on is $3,000 a year."

One street radical said Wolfe was the "gentlest and softest" of the revolutionary crowd.

BIKE-RIDING WRANGLERS Rich Davis and Chris Hammer practice their roping for Long Beach's all-city Bicycle Rodeo for teenagers.

Barrels, balloons, monopoly to highlight teen Bike Rodeo

Barrel racing, balloon busting and "bike monopoly" are among the events at Long Beach's all-city Bicycle Rodeo for teen-agers, which will be held Thursday at 10 a.m. in El Dorado Park East.

The four-hour event, sponsored by the Long Beach Recreation Department, is open to all sizes and styles of bicycles, from "Stingrays" to 10-speeds, according to Dick Ferry, supervisor at the Ram Shack teen center.

Major events will be an obstacle course and the "bike monopoly," Ferry said. In the latter, the cyclists will move from place to place, following the pattern of the parlor game.

Budget study in Lakewood

By LARRY LYNCH
Staff Writer

Lakewood's City Council will meet in special session today to begin review of a proposed budget slimmer down from this year but still carrying the possibility of a property tax boost.

The tax, if passed on by the council, could range from 30 to 40 cents per $100 assessed valuation. It would add from $18 to $25 to the annual tax bill of the owner of a home assessed at $25,000 market value.

THE CITY now levies a property tax of about 7 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

City Manager Milton Farrell's budget document suggests total appropriations for the fiscal year beginning July 1 of $9,950,294.

For the year ending June 30 the city budgeted total expenditures of $10,019,062, including capital improvements of about $2.8 million.

The city actually is spending less than budgeted for operations. But revenues also are running some $900,000 less than anticipated. Gas tax and federal grant monies have dropped off from anticipated levels.

In his budget message to the council, Farrell says:

"Most of our revenue tends not to increase with the cost of living. Only sales tax has this inclination, but this source also has been held down by the increased competition of new shopping centers in the surrounding areas."

IF THE additional property tax is not approved, Farrell's suggested budget for fiscal 1974-75 would pull city reserves down to $656,000 at June 30, 1975, from an expected $1,251,937 at the end of the current year.

Under the tax proposal the city would quit its past practice of picking up the bill for Lakewood's street lighting district.

"The council should seriously consider discontinuing the practice of contributing to County Street Lighting District No. 1615, which would in effect require the county to raise this revenue via levy of the normal district tax rate," Farrell suggests.

County attorneys have

Early registration for the Bicycle Rodeo is being taken at the four youth clubs — Ram Shack, Bruin Den, Hutch and Hi Teen — but participants also may sign up Thursday morning.

Participants should enter El Dorado Park East, Area II, from Wardlow Road. Temporary signs will be erected within the park to direct them to the registration and starting areas.

Trophies will be presented immediately after the last event.

Additional information may be obtained by telephoning the Ram Shack or the Recreation Department.

Teachers' negotiator says schools stalling

The chairman of the teacher team that has been negotiating salaries with the Long Beach Unified School District charged Friday that school officials are stalling the talks until school is out June 14 and teachers take summer vacations.

Paul Perry, chairman of the Certificated Employees Council, said school officials had stated that they're unwilling to meet with teachers until next Wednesday at 3:45 p.m.

They said they couldn't get together themselves or seek instruction from the Board of Education until then, Perry said.

He said the delay showed the school district "was not negotiating in good faith and has no intention of doing so."

A school district official denied the charges and said that some board members had been out of town the last few days and would not be available until Monday, when there is a regular board meeting.

Perry said teachers are willing to negotiate any time, including over the weekend.

Bradley open house set at San Pedro City Hall

Harbor area residents will have the opportunity to discuss their community concerns with Los Angeles Mayor Tom Bradley when he holds his eighth Open House Day Saturday from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. at the San Pedro City Hall.

Bradley will be available to his constituents in the Public Works Conference Room, on the third floor of the City Hall, 628 Beacon St.

No appointment is necessary.

I, P-T survey shows Spiraling prices hit L.B. area hospitals

By BEN ZINSER
Medical-Science Editor

Hospital charges have increased in all major Long Beach hospitals, rocketing to as high as $275 daily for a room in one instance, the Independent Press-Telegram learned Friday.

Charges are up in practically every category of hospital services, a new survey shows.

The new increased rates for services are not limited to Long Beach, hospital officials said.

A spokesman for the Hospital Council of Southern California said that in the past few weeks 40 per cent of 155 hospitals surveyed in a six-county area of the Southland showed an increase in charges.

Leon C. Hauck, director of association services for the council, said he expects that 70 per cent of the council's 247 member hospitals will have raised their rates by September.

"Large and small hospitals alike, old and new, nonprofit and proprietary — the charges are going up," commented Hauck.

HE SAID the daily service charge for a regular room rate has increased by approximately 10 per cent.

Hauck noted, however, that even if economic controls hadn't been lifted, charges still could have been raised last April 30 by seven and a half per cent.

He said that costs of labor and materials have risen, with costs of certain supplies increasing by as much as 30 per cent.

"Linens, plastics — that is, disposables — and paper, all are up, and these costs are reflected in charge increases," Hauck explained.

Sister Mary Wilfred, president of St. Mary Medical Center of Long Beach said recently in a letter to patients:

"Food costs have doubled and tripled, and wages for our more than a thousand employees have had to be increased.

"Just as the inflationary spiral has affected your cost of living, so has it affected ours. Materials and supplies are more expensive."

LONG BEACH'S nonprofit hospitals willingly gave their new rates in certain categories. When certain information was not made available by the hospitals, the Independent Press-Telegram obtained it from another source.

A spot check was also made by a Long Beach hospital official of the charges levied by three major Los Angeles hospitals, and this comparison information was given to the Independent Press-Telegram.

The new rate structures show great differences in some cases. An upper GI X-ray study that costs $15.50 in one Long Beach hospital costs $61 in another.

Semiprivate rooms vary from $72 to $87 a day depending on the hospital.

A blood count that costs $6 in one hospital is $7.50 in another and $9.80 in still another.

It costs $100 an hour for an operating room at one Long Beach hospital. Two other hospitals charge $150.

Following are rate increases announced by four major Long Beach hospitals:

Pacific Hospital of Long Beach: Private room, $79 and $81 to $95 and $97 a day, depending on bath facilities; semiprivate (two-bed) room, $72 to $87; four-bed ward, $68 to $79; first hour of operating room, $145 to $150; intensive care unit, $180 to $190.

St. Mary Medical Center: Deluxe private room, $78 to $90; private, $73 to $85; semiprivate, including single-care units in new Bauer Hospital addition, $68 to $80; four-bed ward, $63 to $75; intensive care unit, $147 to $250; coronary surgery unit, $147 to $275; coronary care unit, $147 to $225; definitive observation unit, $100 to $150; regular nursery, $30 to $40; intermediate nursery, $60 to $70; nursery intensive care, $100 to $150; maternity-delivery, $100 to $120.

LONG BEACH Community Hospital: Private room, $78 to $86; semiprivate, $71 to $79; ward, $68 to $76; pediatrics, $68 to $76; nursery, $33 to $40; intensive care unit and coronary care unit, $180 to $225; definitive observation unit (tantamount to private nursing), $120 to $150; independent therapy unit, $46 to $51 for private, $43 to $48 for semiprivate; operating room first hour, now $150.

Memorial Hospital Medical Center: Private room, $75 to $85; semiprivate, $65 to $72; four-bed ward, $57 to $62; psychiatric, $68 to $75; day care, $15 to $30; constant care, $90 to $110; delivery, $90 to $120; emergency room, $15 to $18; nursery, $30 to $38; intensive care, $125 to $200; isolation, $75 to $85; alcoholism center, $57 to $60; sub-intensive care, $105 to $125.

Memorial West section of Memorial Hospital Medical Center: Ambulatory semiprivate, $50 (no charge); private, $56 to $60; nonambulatory semiprivate, $53 to $60; nonambulatory private, $59 to $70.

Miller Children's Hospital section of Memorial Center: general care, $67 to $80; intermediate nursery, $65 to $80; special care, $125 to $200; intensive care, $125 to $200.

Shore building permits sought

Staff Writer

Three applications for construction in Belmont Shore, an area where residents carefully scrutinize every proposed building, are scheduled for consideration Monday by the regional coastal commission, which will meet at 9 a.m. in the Long Beach Harbor Department's board room, 925 Harbor Plaza Dr.

Coastal commission staff members also have a policy of painstaking detail in analyzing prospective buildings for the area, where residents say parking has become a constant headache.

Scheduled for public hearing Monday are:

— A request by Randy Blanchard to construct a 3-unit apartment building at 201 Ravenna Dr.;

— An application from James W. Read Jr. for the construction of two duplexes on two separate lots at 5521-5525 Seaside Walk and one triplex on two lots at 3-7 Balboa Pl.;

— And, a request by Robert K. Schnell for permission to demolish an existing building and construct a six-unit apartment building at 5398 Apian Way.

Among other items on the commission's agenda, which is a continuation of last Monday's meeting, is an application for the construction of an 18-hole golf course, club house and restaurant facilities at 20262 Irvine Ave., Newport Beach. Developer for the project is Pacific Coast Manufacturing Co., Golf Division.

Cal. college aid for felons urged

By WALT MURRAY
Staff Writer

State funds should be allocated to the colleges for educating felons in prison and helping them re-enter society through on-campus programs, the president of Long Beach State University said Friday.

Dr. Stephen Horn, speaking at the Southwest Regional Conference of the American Society for Industrial Security aboard the Queen Mary, also called for more effort to educate prison personnel.

"Prisons should become centers for community re-entry where inmates have a right to education," Horn said. He said felons need education to help rehabilitate them.

Horn, who served three years on the board of the National Institute of Corrections, said inmates have the right to the same educational opportunities in prison as would be available to them outside.

He said the colleges should have special programs educating prisoners and ex-convicts in basic reading and writing skills, "social education" and degree-oriented vocational, academic or professional programs.

Forty per cent of the nation's prisoners can't read or write, Horn said. Most have only a fifth to a seventh-grade education.

Although the state and federal governments have made no formal commitments to educating prisoners and ex-convicts, 10 California state universities and colleges have financed their own projects, Horn said.

He said that LBSU's Project Chance brings 36 felons who are on educational release programs and ex-felons on parole to campus for classes.

"Project Chance is an attempt to sustain the ex-offender during this difficult period of transition," Horn said.

"The fate of Project Chance rests on our ability to obtain federal and state funds, if the program is to continue," Horn said.

HE SAID that the State Department of Corrections and the Federal Bureau of Prisons should give top priority to funding such programs.

Horn also called for college programs to better train prison personnel.

"There has never been the widespread sense of professionalism that is needed in the field," he said.

The colleges should also make more effort to educate teachers of prisoners and prison personnel, he said.

Likewise, Horn said, "the community in whose midst the ex-felon must survive" needs more education so it will be willing to help ex-convicts re-enter society.

A Sprinkle or two, then the sun peeks through.

Don't let that weeding go... Jack Johnson died June 11, 1946... Third quarter of the moon June 12... Father's Day June 16... Average length of days for week, 15 hours, 17 minutes... Four Nazi saboteurs captured on Long Island June 13, 1942... Baseball's "squeeze play" invented June 16, 1894... Admitting you are wrong makes you strong. Old Farmer's Riddle: What goes from one city to another without moving? (Answer below.)

Ask the Old Farmer: Did you ever hear of using a piece of dried fish-skin to settle coffee? G.N., Little Rock.

Yes, but that was when coffee was merely ground. With some of the pulverized varieties the whole darned codfish wouldn't settle it.

Home Hints: If the end of your transparent tape sticks to the roll, place it in the refrigerator for approximately ten minutes. It can then be loosened without breaking either fingernails or tape... Riddle answer: Untraced tracks.

OLD FARMER'S WEATHER FORECASTS

New England: Intermittent spring showers for first part of week; cloudy and cool by end of week.

Greater New York-New Jersey: Mostly clear to start, then becoming hot; some rain and cooler latter part.

Middle Atlantic Coastal: Generally clear and very warm at first, then light rain; moderately heavy rain at end of week.

Southeast Coastal-Piedmont: Week begins mostly clear and warm, then rain; rain continuing to end of week.

Florida: Rain off and on all week from possible tropical storm.

Upstate & Western N.Y.-Toronto & Montreal: Rain starting in west, then moving east by midweek; heavy rain latter part except sunny and warm in west.

Greater Ohio Valley: Early week pleasant and hot; intermittent hard rain at week's end.

Deep South: First part of week clear and hot; end of week rainy and cooler.

Chicago and Southern Great Lakes: Hot to start, then rain and cooler; partial clearing latter part, then more rain on week-end.

Northern Great Plains-Great Lakes: Week begins hot and showery, then cooler; rain, heavy at times, latter part.

Central Great Plains: Hot in east and rainy in west to start, then cooling rain in east by midweek; end of week clearing and hot.

Texas-Oklahoma: Partly cloudy and hot at first, then rain and cooler; clearing and hot latter part.

Rocky Mountain Region: Week begins rainy, heavy in north, then mild end of week mostly sunny and warmer.

Southwest Desert: Generally clear and hot throughout week with highs reaching 100 by week's end.

Pacific Northwest: First part of week rainy and cool; becoming partly sunny by end of week.

California: Mostly cloudy to start, then rain by midweek; partial clearing in south by end of week.

A hardy shrub for groundcover

By JOE LITTLEFIELD

Prostrate rosemary is a hardy shrub primarily used for ground covering. It loves sun thrives in about half sun, is a good plant for container use, as a hanging basket plant, and ideal outdoors where the planter is part of the house wall unit. It is even planted in confined planter areas of black top or cement. The concentrated heat as well as additional reflected heat from the cement or blacktop surfaces doesn't affect the plants at all. The few corkscrew, upright growths should be cut back to encourage more sprawling.

Pentunias love heat, too. The hardiest type of pentunias, that grow about as easily as old-fashioned balcony pentunias, are the "Royalty" type, in colors of red, salmon, yellow, deep blue, and white. Some strains tend to be more susceptible to smog than the ones that are as nearly like the balcony type. They should be planted out as soon as convenient to become established and better able to with-stand the smog. Blossoms can be used as cut flowers indoors. They last about two days.

I was asked how to start "pups" of Sago Pal. Remove the pups from the base of the mother plant. Plant them in containers, in a half and half mixture of clear sand and an organic planter mix. Lightly moisten the material. The pups ends first are dipped into a hormone rooting medium then carefully planted one-third of their total length into the prepared material and firmed well. The planted containers then are placed in semishade and watered. Thereafter, kept faintly moist (not overly wet.) They usually begin rooting in about six weeks, but must be left in those containers for a year before being planted into a soil mixture.

Plants with knobby base from where leaves or leaves and flowers grow should never be planted deeply. The knobs should not be smothered by soil, for if this happens, plants begin stunted in form. The leaves are shorter and look poor. Included in this group of plants are some types of ferns, gerbera, and iris.

Some gardeners find it difficult to grow potted Boston fern indoors. One of the problems develops when the root-ball top is not far down enough below the top edge of the pots, allowing only a limited space for water. As the plant is not supposed to be kept too wet, the gardener often doesn't give it sufficient water. The gardener should either refill the water four or five times, or else dunk the fern into a bucket of water.

CLUB NOTES

The South Coast Cactus & Succulent Society will meet Sunday at 1:30 p.m. in the Club Room of the South Coast Botanic Gardens, 26701 Rolling Hills Road, Palos Verdes Peninsula (just off Crenshaw Boulevard.)

"Succulent Bonsai" is the subject of a talk to be given by Lillian True, who will show examples of plants to members and guests.

The Naples Islands Garden Club will meet at 12 noon Monday at Recreation Park. For further information contact Barbara Swenson, publicity chairman, by calling 438-6178.

The Bellflower African Violet Society will hold its regular meeting Tuesday at the Bellflower Unified School District's teacher's lounge, 16703 S. Clark Ave. (at Laurel.) Pauline Bartholomew of Ventura County will speak.

A pot luck dinner is scheduled for 6:30 p.m. For further information, please telephone 925-080.

Jobs to do now

Save time by trimming around sprinkler heads and trees, and edging the walks and driveway every time the lawn is mowed.

Green gardenia buds continue to drop if there is a sudden weather change from warm and sunny to cool, overcast colder days. Gardenia flower petals if in tight bud form that brown along the edges signal that those nasty thrips are attacking them. A horticultural wetting agent should be added to the insecticide diluted in water spray. The wetting agent causes the ingredients in the spray to adhere to the flowers and leaves after the spray's ordinary moisture has dried. The following advice is one person's opinion only. The thrips are inactive during the several hours of the hottest part of the day. Therefore, the gardener should spray early in the morning or the late afternoon. Soil must be watered well before spraying. The gardener should spray the soil after spraying the plants.

Youth Folk Mass at St. Anthony nothing radical

By LES RODNEY
Religion Editor

Folk youth Mass with congregational singing led by 30 young people with guitar and other musical instruments at St. Anthony Catholic Church? What goes on here?

It's really not far out, and not even unusual any more in the United States, says Rev. Gerard O'Donnell, a youthful-looking associate pastor at the downtown parish. He's the organizer of the new group, which holds its celebration every Sunday at 5:30 p.m., all invited.

Authorization stems from the Vatican Council, where the bishops voted to adapt liturgy to the culture of the times, and to encourage fuller participation.

"ACTUALLY, IN just about every Catholic church in the country now there is some kind of folk and youth liturgy," Father O'Donnell said in a chat this week at the rectory on Olive Avenue. Impetus to the infusion of musical participation in the Eucharist came from the college campuses, including Long Beach State, generally through the Newman Clubs. "I see it as helping many people to worship better," he said.

And how have the parishioners received it? Any opposition, talk of becoming too much like the Protestants?

"Oh, we're past that point," Father O'Donnell replied. "It's been pretty favorably received, I'd say."

"It's tough for some people," he added. "Some are not prepared for it. That's why we do it Sunday evening, so those who may not like it still have the morning Masses. But we find most people do enjoy it when they see and hear it."

Including St. Anthony Msgr. Ernest Gualderon, who dropped in to say hello and to say he thinks the youth celebration is just fine, and that he encourages it.

KEN WEARE, a recent seminary grad now teaching ethics in the high school, and a student of church music, pointed out that within the Catholic tradition people have been singing in churches for centuries in Europe.

"In fact," he said, "in the beginning days of the church the people would gather and sing as an important part of their Eucharist celebration. And even at the very first celebration of the Eucharist, the Last Supper, Jesus and His disciples sang at least one song (referred to in both Matthew and Mark). It is only within American Catholicism that congregational singing is seen as something new."

The organ and the beautiful Gregorian chant were the popular instrument and music of their time, he suggested. "They still have their place, but today the guitar, which some people malign in a stereotyped way, has won its popularity. Listen to the moving moments of guitar music and singing around a campfire, or to a young man playing beautiful love songs to his young wife. It is used to celebrate some of the most important events of our life—love, happiness, sorrow, reflection, children, family."

Father O'Donnell amplified on the question as to whether there is any real tradition for congregational singing in American Catholic churches.

"I'd say it was a weak tradition. National churches have sung, bringing it from Europe, like Polish congregations. The Irish, who have shaped so many of our churches here, do not have a singing church tradition, have been more monastic."

AS FOR THE kind of music used in the St. Anthony folk Mass:

"Nothing way out," Father O'Donnell said with a shrug and a smile. "Something easily sung."

Including old-new favorites like Amazing Grace, and youth favorites with socio-religious fervor like Blowing in the Wind and Turn, Turn, Turn. The "Godspell" influence is felt, too. Said Weare: "We sing Day by Day at the school all the time." (A melodic, catchy song with lyrics that include "To love thee more dearly, follow thee more closely, day by day.")

Added Father O'Donnell: "We receive guidelines, we're not free to go off on tangents."

Is all this to be seen as an extension of the Vatican Council modernization program, or as a rediscovery of partly forgotten roots and tradition?

"Some of both. In the old days people would bring in the things they used and were familiar with, to celebrate and to incorporate into the liturgy. This is not new to our church history."

How does the archdiocese, formerly one of the nation's most cautious and conservative, feel about it? What says Cardinal Manning?

"There's a favorable atmosphere under Cardinal Manning," Father O'Donnell replied. "He likes it—if it is well done. It should be well done."

Weare recalled that the cardinal enjoyed the musical Mass when he visited the parish recently.

FR. O'DONNELL Aid to Worship

We asked Father O'Donnell if he was aware that some Protestant fundamentalists have charged that rock music is a plot by sinister forces, the design of the devil.

He smiled fleetingly. "I've heard of that. We pay it no attention. (Nor do most Protestants, it might have been added.) Anyway, what we are doing is not hard rock, this is more folk rock. Easier to sing, and easier on the ears. In addition to the folk Mass, he hopes the innovation at St. Anthony will blossom into a youth club, to expand the celebration in modern song."

The priest made a final point. "This plays a secondary role, it does not become primary. It's good because it helps us celebrate. What we are celebrating is the birth, life, death and resurrection of Our Lord Jesus Christ."

Methodists OK scholarships

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (UPI) — More than $400,000 in scholarship aid has been approved by the Crusade Scholarship Committee of the Board of Global Ministries of the United Methodist Church.

About $290,000 of the total will go to around 30 black, Hispanic, Asian American and Indian American students for graduate study in colleges and universities in the United States, Puerto Rico and Mexico. The remainder will go to 11 African, Asian and Latin American students for graduate study either in the United States or overseas.

From seminarian's mother

The following letter was received from Mrs. William F. (Miriam) Keller, mother of David Keller, one of the majority of the Concordia Seminary students who followed 48 faculty members into Seminex, the seminary-in-exile, when Concordia President Dr. John Tietjen was deposed by the leadership of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod. The Kellers are members of Long Beach First Lutheran Church.

DEAR MR. RODNEY:

May I add to the Missouri Synod-Seminex story? Two weeks ago we attended our son Dave's graduation from Seminex, one of the most deeply moving and inspiring experiences of our lives.

The depth of the faith and mutual love among these men of God, professors and students, and the height of their morale and Christian ideals almost literally vibrated throughout the service. These men are not wild-eyed radicals—the professors are middle-aged, thoughtful men who have been teaching for decades; the seniors are in their mid-twenties, with eight years of college and graduate school behind them.

Yet after eight years, when we left St. Louis none of these young men had been placed by Synod into the field for which they had been trained. What an outrage to think they are not on their way to full time ministries!

After all this training our son will be gardening this summer because he (and all his classmates) refused to submit to the interview process imposed on THEM

ONLY. The graduates who had stayed at 801 DeMun (the original Concordia Seminary) and those at the Springfield Seminary did not have to go through this process, directly contrary to what the Press-Telegram was told by someone in St. Louis. Worse yet, this interview condition was brought about by a deliberate misinterpretation of a resolution of the council of presidents. The Seminex graduates had met every other qualification in order to be certified for ordination, but refused this final humiliation and harassment.

If any qualifications should be in doubt, it should be those of the graduates who stayed at the "official" seminary. One has to seriously wonder how three or four remaining professors plus a few once-a-week commuting instant substitutes could have kept up the instructional level and academic standards of the 48 professors who left to form Seminex, which incidentally was immediately granted full accreditation.

In last week's interview, Pastor Schroeder of First Lutheran, of which we are members, spoke of his hopes for reconciliation. How can there be reconciliation when one "side" defines the word as synonymous with submission?

May I express our appreciation for your thoughtful, objective reporting of this heart breakingly tragic situation, and your fair treatment of David and his peers when you interviewed them.

The Tower of Babel and tongues

By David E. ANDERSON
UPI Religion Writer

The New English Bible version of the story of the tower of Babel begins with the simplicity of a fairy tale: "Once upon a time, all the world spoke a single language and used the same words."

That simplicity, used primarily as a literary device, contrasts sharply with the unfolding story of the building of the tower and the shattering of the people's simplicity into the complexity of their scattering and the diversity of their tongues.

Babel, and the consequent scattering of the people, has been used many times over the years as a foil for describing the New Testament event of Pentecost, celebrated by Christians recently. Pentecost, described in the second chapter of Acts, has often been called the "birthday of the church" and marks the gift of the Holy Spirit, coming "from heaven like the rush of a mighty wind" to Jesus' followers gathered in Jerusalem.

The Pentecost event that has attracted the most attention has been the description of the Disciples speaking in tongues—glossolalia. No other religious phenomenon has caused as much controversy in recent years.

Once associated only with the so-called Pentecostal sects, the "Spirit movement," with speaking in tongues as its chief manifestation, has increasingly found proponents in such mainline denominations as the Episcopal, Lutheran and

Roman Catholic churches. Speaking in tongues was a key part of the Pentecost experience, and, as Sleeth and Donahue point out, "one should not minimize this manifestation of the Spirit."

However, they add, it must all be remembered that "it was the Spirit that gave (the disciples) the gift of speech. That is, the speaking in tongues is not a self-induced experience nor a reason for pride."

In the New Testament description of the first Pentecost, the emphasis is not on the speaking in tongues as such but as an example of the action of God giving the disciples the gift of language — an understood language — and restoring the unity that was destroyed in the attempt to build the Tower of Babel.

OPEN HOUSE TODAY AT WITNESSES' KINGDOM HALL

Volunteers built new hall

With 98 per cent of the labor provided free by volunteers in the Jehovah's Witness tradition, the new Kingdom Hall of the Long Beach Silverado congregation has been completed and will hold open house today from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The hall, at 1295 W. Willow St., corner of Fashion Ave., contains seating for more than 200, and several classrooms in 3,000 square feet. Construction began on Jan. 3 of this year. According to the Witnesses, the land cost $17,000 and cost of construction was $34,000. The voluntary labor included skilled personnel such as bricklayers, tile installers, plumbers.

Russell Dixon, representative of the Watchtower Bible and Tract Society of New York, will give the dedication talk in the evening. The public is invited to see the facility. Refreshments will be served. There are 140 members in the Silverado congregation. The hall will be used primarily for Bible instruction, with meetings Sunday at 9:30 a.m., Tuesday at 6:30 p.m. and Thursday at 7 p.m. There are now reported to be 500,000 Jehovah's Witnesses in the United States.

POSITIVE THINKING

by Norman Vincent Peale

Power of Enthusiasm

Was he enthusiastic? The fact was he was running over with enthusiasm, and then some. I usually have dinner after the talks I give on speaking engagements in various cities across America.

On one such occasion I stopped in at a lunch counter near my hotel determined to go easy on food for the hour was late. It was a small place and behind the counter there he was: a big, husky fellow who looked as though he enjoyed his own wares. His sleeves were rolled up to display his tanned and brawny arms and his head was covered by a tall chef's cap, set at a rakish angle.

"Hello, brother," he said jovially as I sat down.

"How are you?" I responded.

"What'll you have?" he asked.

I ORDERED a hamburger and a cup of black coffee. When that was finished off the man said, "Boy have I got something for you! What you need to complete your meal is this." He reached to a shelf and brought out an uncut apple pie which he proudly showed to me.

"Our pies are really something," he exclaimed. "That crust is made with real butter and melts in your mouth. And the apples are the best New York State has to offer. Which means super. And just smell that cinnamon!" And he held the pie right under my nose. It surely smelled good.

"O.K. dish it out," I said, rising to his enthusiasm. He cut me a generous piece and laid a piece of cheddar cheese alongside.

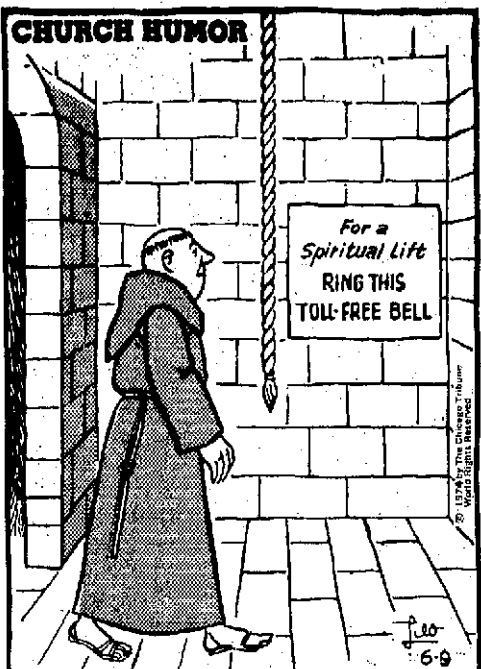

Then he drew more steaming coffee from a bright shiny urn. As he put the cup down before me, he said: "You know, my friend, there's coffee and then again there's coffee. Get the smell and taste of that coffee I've put by your elbow. But you've never had anything so good."

Well, I ate the pie and drank the coffee. I'm sure I've had pie and coffee just as good if perhaps not better elsewhere, but the enthusiasm of that man behind the counter made it taste just as wonderful as he said it was. That lunch counter operator was a salesman—how different from so many dull people who stand behind counters and actually repel business. He put his stuff forward with irresistible enthusiasm.

I've written about enthusiasm often for I think it is one of the most important qualities anyone can possess. It transforms people into extra, extra personalities. It makes ordinary persons into extraordinary individuals.

INDEED ENTHUSIASM can even stimulate better health. I was talking about this subject to a physician recently and he told me something very interesting. He said that he had actually seen people die, not due to organic reasons, but basically because they had lost their enthusiasm. Had they only possessed the zest for life that goes with that enthusiasm, they would have had the will to overcome sickness with enthusiasm for life itself could have risen above the physical difficulties that killed them. In a sense, then, enthusiasm is an elixir of life. It is of the life force.

You can inject the elixir of enthusiasm into your thoughts, into every act you perform. You can be as enthusiastic about whatever you are doing as my friend behind the lunch counter. You can be enthusiastic about your job and when you put enthusiasm into your job, it is bound to be done better. Then you will start moving up to bigger things. Enthusiasm has lifting power. It lifts people up always and inevitably.

GOINGS ON

Mrs. Camille Svensson will speak on "Sai Baba on God Realization" Sunday 3 p.m. at THEOSOPHICAL SOCIETY, in YWCA building at Sixth and Pacific.

PEALE WINS TWO AWARDS

Dr. Norman Vincent Peale has been awarded two George Washington Honor Medals by the Freedoms Foundation, one of them for writing two booklets on America's religious heritage, seven million copies of which have been distributed to public school children.

They have been distributed at no cost to public and private schools that have requested them for classroom use under the Supreme Court's recommendation that information about religion be taught in public schools.

The second medal was for a newspaper column entitled "America Can Stand Tall," which he wrote when the POW's returned from Vietnam.

Father Hall to leave St. Luke's

Rev. Samuel Leslie Hall, rector for the past seven years at St. Luke's Episcopal Church, will leave the local church at the end of this month in order to accept the position of chaplain of the Hospital of the Good Samaritan in Los Angeles.

Father Hall, 45, came here from a parish church in Whittier. During his stay, St. Luke's extended its community outreach significantly, with programs utilizing the downtown facilities.

"I will miss St. Luke's," he said this week. "I can't imagine any other parish I would trade for."

Evangelism meet preps 80 sessions

LAUSANNE, Switzerland — Practical as well as theological considerations of evangelism will be considered in over 80 afternoon sessions during the International Congress on World Evangelization here July 16-25.

The 2700 participants have just been sent study papers for the strategy and theological study groups they have selected.

Paul Little, congress associate director for program, said that the leaders invited to Lausanne had shown a great interest in the varied offerings. Each was asked to indicate a preference for the meetings he would like to attend in three categories: demonstrations of evangelistic methods, specialized evangelistic strategy groups, and theology of evangelization study groups. In each category, 25 or more topics were offered.

The director said the afternoon meetings of smaller groups will give each participant opportunities to discuss issues with people of similar interests from around the world.

Vacation Bible schools

A Vacation Bible School will be conducted at Bethlehem Lutheran Church, 11082 Wallingford Road, Los Alamitos, for two weeks starting June 17, Monday through Friday from 9 to 11:30 a.m. A donation of $2.50 per child is asked to cover the cost of material used.

In First Orthodox Presbyterian Church of Manhattan Beach, 500 Manhattan Beach Blvd., a school for children three years old to 8th grade will be held Monday through Friday, June 17-21, from 9:30 a.m. to noon.

Freedom meet

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Plans are underway for a "Bicentennial Conference on Religion Liberty" which will draw some 500 scholars and community leaders to reflect America's history of religious freedom and affirming the spirit and beliefs of the Founding Fathers.

Concert to dedicate new organ

Dr. Ennis Fruhauf, noted concert organist, will present a concert Sunday, 8 p.m. on the newly installed two manual Reuter Pipe organ at Christ Lutheran Church, 6500 Stearns Ave. He is a member of the faculty at UC-Santa Barbara, organ-chaplain at that city's Unitarian Church, dean of the American Guild of Organs, and has given concerts throughout Europe. He will play works from Bales, Mozart, Mendelssohn, Bach, Brahms and Vierne.

Formal dedicatory services for the organ will be held in the two morning services at 8:15 and 11 a.m. Justin Kraemer, who designed and installed the 900-pipe organ, will introduce it and explain its features to the congregation. Mrs. Harly Larsen (Eldre), church organist, will demonstrate.

All material to be considered for publication in the religion section on Saturday must be received by Thursday noon.

Synod warns of 'divisive' ELIM

The board of directors of The Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod is advising the Synod that it views the activities of ELIM (Evangelical Lutherans in Mission) "moderate" group in the controversy as being divisive within the church and urges all members to "exercise great care and caution" in organizing or joining groups which polarize or divide the Synod.

Investors showing independence of judgment

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — A fascinating change in the investment scene that might pose big problems for professional money managers, but which often is overlooked, is the tendency of investors today to exercise more independence of judgment.

In the 1960s, millions of Americans turned over their savings to money managers with only one request: "Make me some money." The money managers agreed to the arrangements, and sometimes they produced results, too.

Mutual fund salesmen found their market pre-sold, and had only to sign up the eager customers. From assets of just $2.3 billion in 1950, the industry grew to $50.5 billion in 1969. Unprecedented!

Brokers found they didn't have to telephone their customers; the customers called them, asked what looked good, and placed their orders. Some brokers pinched themselves as their incomes neared six figures.

THEN THE disillusionment. The stock market broke, and with it snapped the untested faith of customers in their advisers. So also did the myth of superior wisdom and insight. As losses mounted, clients realized there are few geniuses in the market, but many claimants to the role.

Unlike the 1960s, when playing the game was easy, money managers now are being tested.

Month after month the assets of mutual funds decline as customers redeem their shares, often at big losses. Redemptions for the 12 months through April averaged 10.3 per cent of assets, which are now down to $44.4 billion. The funds themselves indicate a lack of confidence, if you can judge from the cash ratios.

During the 1960s the funds committed their money, and the industry's ratio never exceeded 8.5 per cent for an entire year, and generally was much lower. In April of this year it reached 10.4 per cent.

To a much greater extent, it seems, small investors are relying on their own wits and knowledge, which in some instances is superior to the advice that was offered by the so-called experts.

Many brokerage houses also are having a tough time competing, even though competition is reduced by the demise of scores of firms. No longer is the market presold; instead, it is programmed to say no.

Money managers can't seem to develop selling programs that have appeal — which is understandable.

Swedish car producer nixes assembly line

KALMAR, Sweden (AP) — Some 55 years ago American industrialist Henry Ford revolutionized manufacturing processes by introducing the assembly line, since then the very symbol of man's integration as a somewhat dehumanized part of the mechanized society.

Now Swedish car producer Volvo turns that system down, introducing the world's first mass production car assembly plant without a moving line. It was inaugurated this week.

This is how it works: Assembly is subdivided among some 25 separate teams, each team consisting of about 15 workers with a small workshop zone at its disposal in the large factory.

The team members are not limited to fitting individual parts but, within the team, they install and become experts in entire functions of the car.

DURING assembly work the body is carried through the factory on a battery-powered low-level carrier that also functions as a working platform. It is connected to the factory computer system, but can also be operated by the workers via a switch panel.

The workers do have to fit the bodies with the respective components within certain time periods, but due to buffer stock spaces, each space is able to store six cars. They can vary their rate of work and create breaks.

One of the 400 workers in the plant — by the end of the year they will be 600 — is Jan Karlsson, a member of a team that assembles the front ends.

Had Karlsson, 25, been working in an orthodox plant, he would have performed one function, such as fastening a wheel link or a wheel hub.

IN THE Kalmar plant he carries out some 30 tasks regularly. And due to job rotation he can swap jobs with his teammates, increasing the number of tasks to several hundred.

"I have visited the Volvo assembly plant in Goteborg that is built on the old system," Karlsson says. "I wouldn't even consider working there."

"My only complaint about the way it functions here is that the job rotation system doesn't work — at least not in my team. We have been talking to other team members, for instance the preassembly people, about rotating within the team, but they have been unwilling. There is a tendency that the workers feel that now when they have learned to do their tasks, they stay."

EXCEPT for that, Karlsson believes the idea is good. "The team spirit is fine, we do have a feeling that the foremen listen to our remarks and relays them upwards. And the work environment is marvelous. It's clean and it's airy and it's rather noiseless. It's no problem talking to each other on normal speech level."

Orange County study shows growth to slow

With the rapid, natural growth of the 1960s completed, Orange County has time to catch its breath and decide not only "where do we go from here" but "how do we go from here," according to a special Bank of America economic report, "Focus on Orange County," released this week.

"Orange County has been the fastest growing area in the state the past decade and it will continue growing at a faster rate than the rest of California, but at nowhere near the record levels of the 1960s," Bank of America vice president and senior economist Dr. Julian H. Taylor told 500 county business and civic leaders at an Anaheim Convention Center luncheon to introduce the 32-page study.

"Future growth in Orange County will be slower and more controlled. Most of the growth during the 1960s was natural, that is it came about whether or not county leaders wanted or planned for it. Now, with slower, more steady growth, weaknesses of the past are being corrected and the economic base is being restructured," he said.

DR. TAYLOR said what kind of growth Orange County experiences through 1985 largely is up to the residents, government officials and business people of the county.

He said county leaders are to be complimented for getting off to a good start and said continuance of unified county planning will assure success both as a place to work and a nice place to live.

The report, compiled after more than a year's study, spells out the make-up and potential of the county's 26 incorporated cities, population and income projections. It also provides prospects for growth in employment, agriculture and aerospace.

THE DAILY INVESTOR Opening 'can of worms'

By DON CAMPBELL
It's a simple phrase, but loaded with dynamite: "it's understood that..."

"What" is understood? By whom? How many "understandings" of the same thing exist?

Q: IN A recent column you quoted the American Bankers Association as saying that a widow — who had no blood relatives with whom she could have a joint account — could increase her $20,000 insurance coverage by opening different accounts under variations of her own name.

My banker says this is grossly inaccurate. What gives?

A: "What gives?" is an interesting question since we seem to have two knowledgeable organizations, both intimately involved in the same field, flying off in wildly divergent directions.

The question that the lady submitted was not blown off the top of my head, but was submitted to legal counsel for the American Bankers Association, and that was the source of my answer.

The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation — and a variety of far-flung bankers and savings and loan association officials — immediately arose in opposition.

And so the question was resubmitted (rather indignantly on my part) to the ABA which stuck by its earlier interpretation, but admitted that, in the case of a bank liquidation, it's the FDIC that pays off (or doesn't) according to its interpretation.

Both the ABA and the FDIC admit that I had opened a can of worms.

So what's the seat of the problem? In large measure it has its roots in the fact that, while the FDIC's official definition is fairly clear (if highly legalistic), much of the literature distributed by the individual banks and S&Ls — on the matter of who is insured for how much — is vague, bordering on ambiguous and teetering on the brink of contraction.

The FDIC, for instance, contends that it is insuring individuals, in their "right and capacity" as individuals — not accounts — and it is, therefore, covering the individual as a legal entity up to a maximum of $20,000.

The husband's account (as an individual) is insured up to $20,000. The wife's account (as an individual) is insured to $20,000. And another $20,000 of coverage is provided on joint accounts because the couple — as a result of legal marriage — constitute a third legal entity.

But a typical leaflet on the subject, picked up at a local bank and bearing the FDIC's imprint, states in one paragraph that "each depositor" is insured up to $20,000, but, two paragraphs later, says that "the maximum insurance of $20,000 is applicable to each insured deposit" — which are not exactly the same thing if we are, indeed, insuring people rather than mere accounts.

Another paragraph, incidentally, assures the depositor that all of the accounts he may have with the bank — in the form of checking, savings, Christmas Club, and some dozen other types of deposits — are automatically insured, but neglects to mention that $20,000 is the aggregate amount actually covered.

And, paradoxically, even as banks and S&Ls are quick to jump on the "$20,000 maximum" per deposit (or depositor, or account — depending on whose literature on the subject you are reading), many of them are equally quick to distribute literature describing in great detail how depositors can, in effect, circumvent the principle behind Federal insurance by setting up baffling combinations of individual accounts, joint accounts and revocable trust accounts among members of the same family.

L.B. Chamber notes

Consumer problems and how they are handled by the recently established Long Beach City Department of Consumer Affairs will be the subject of a Long Beach Area Chamber of Commerce general membership breakfast Wednesday, June 19, at the Elks Club.

Guest speaker Charlotte Pownell, city director of consumer affairs, will speak.

Mrs. Pownell, former director of customer relations for Waste King Universal, has been with the city department since it opened on Feb. 1 at 222 Pacific Ave.

The Department of Consumer Affairs was established to help mediate misunderstandings between community business firms and consumers.

The department also receives and investigates complaints of alleged unfair or deceptive trade practices, provides input for proposed consumer legislation, materials and speakers for classes and special programs on consumer education.

Named

Roger Paul, Long Beach, has been named executive vice president of Imperial Van Lines Inc., of California, subsidiary of Imperial International, Inc.

Authors speak out

CONFESSIONS OF A PRICE CONTROLLER, by C. Jackson Grayson Jr. Dow Jones-Irwin, $9.95.

Does anyone still think economic policy making in the Capitol is a rational and systematic process presided over by wise, well-informed men and carried out by an experienced bureaucracy?

If so, he should read this new book by the former chairman of the late Price Commission.

Written with the former executive secretary of the commission, Louis Neeb, the story is a cautionary tale of the commission's 15-month life—one of wild improvisation, power struggles with other agencies, political subterfuge, indifference at the highest level and backbreaking work.

Work for a cause that, in the end, seemed somehow dubious.

INDUSTRY WEEK

More problems for steel

The steel industry's capacity shortage may not end as quickly as recently announced capacity expansion plans might lead steel users to believe.

Industry Week has reported that chief executives of steel firms cautiously contend there are still more problems than solutions to increasing the capacity, and not enough money to do the job.

The magazine for managers said for steel users this means that if demand for steel remains anywhere near current levels the tight supply situation will prevail for at least three years, and maybe more. In recent weeks there has been a spate of announced plans for increasing raw steel capacity by about 13 million tons.

Although some of this increase is conditional on such developments as a continued improvement in returns on sales and investment, it still adds up to about half of the 25 million tons of new capacity that is said to be needed by 1980.

But quite a few steel executives question whether target dates mentioned in capacity announcements can be met, or even whether tonnages claimed for "rounding out" projects can actually be achieved.

One steel manager pointed out some of the announcements of expansion "plans" were the result of questions raised at stockholders' meetings. "But, how many projects are into the engineering stage?" he queried.

One steel company head figures that the industry will have to spend $3.5 billion a year to meet capacity, environmental, and other requirements, and that's $1.5 billion more than has ever been spent per year. Before such an amount of money is spent, bankers will want to see an improvement in returns on sales and investment and an improvement in the debt-equity ratio.

Other problems that could restrict capacity expansion are possible raw material shortages, the drain of pollution control expenditures, and the political and economic climate, Industry Week noted.

One steel company head says that he will be surprised if future pollution control costs aren't at least double some of the earlier calculations. He calls for the steel industry to take a united stand and insist that Congress and the government revise what he believes are unrealistic environmental control standards, adopted in an atmosphere of panic, which could waste money needed elsewhere.

Another steel company head foresees a decade of relatively strong steel demand, unprecedented in the industry's history.

May Co. reveals 'sharing'

More than 18,000 employees of The May Department Stores Company will share $1,290,000 of the company's 1973 profits as members of the firm's profit sharing and savings plan.

Stanley J. Goodman, chairman of the board, and David E. Babcock, president, said the directors approved an increase, from 6 to 6 1/2 per cent, in the percentage of earnings used in the formula for profit sharing.

19 1/2 hour Cerebral Palsy Telethon set

By BOB MARTIN
TV-Radio Editor

Just call him "Mr. Telethon."

Dennis James is said to have hosted more telethons than all other entertainers combined — more than 100 of them across the nation during the past 22 years.

And, starting at 11 tonight on Channel 11, he'll be hosting another one. It's the 19 1/2-hour Cerebral Palsy Telethon, originating at the KTTV (Channel 11) studios in

Paul Anka is talent host and will perform frequently himself during the marathon show.

Susan Seaforth, Tige Andrews, Dick Haymes, Lainie Kazan, Eartha Kitt, Sue Ane Langdon, Bill Hayes, Elena Verdugo, Shani Wallace, Fred Holliday, Tom Kennedy and Edgar Buchanan.

"IS NBC AIRING more shows of violence than ever?" a viewer wants to know.

He points out that he saw a message flash across the Channel 4 screen proclaiming: "50 Crime Shows in June."

No, there will be no increase in dramatic shows of violence this month. KNBC (Channel 4) and the other four NBC-owned stations across the country are using their public affairs programs throughout June to focus attention on the problem of crime and how to combat it.

Among the 54 KNBC programs devoted to this topic in June are "Brainworks," at 2 p.m. today; "The Issue Is," at 10 p.m. Sunday; and "The Target Is You," a docu-drama at 7:30 p.m. Monday.

On "Brainworks," the Patricia Hearst kidnapping will be discussed by students of Immaculate Heart College. The host is Barry Martin.

Jury duty, gun control, juvenile offenders and the hiring of ex-convicts will be discussed on "The Issue Is," hosted by Jess Marlow.

On "The Target Is You," a professional pickpocket, actors and policemen will illustrate shoplifting, burglary, pickpocketing and bunco schemes. Martin Milner narrates the dramatized documentary, which is a repeat.

FRANK SINATRA, Jimmy Durante, Sammy Davis Jr. and Ella Fitzgerald have accepted invitations to attend the first Entertainers Hall of Fame installation ceremonies Sunday at the Riviera Hotel in Las Vegas. The program will be televised by Metromedia for showing in September.

Each year, five living and five deceased showbiz greats will be installed in the Entertainers Hall of Fame. The four named in the preceding paragraph are the first living inductees. Deceased stars being saluted are Judy Garland, Joe E. Lewis, Nat King Cole, Sophie Tucker and Louis Armstrong.

The Hall of Fame, conceived by Tony Zoppi, public relations director of the Riviera Hotel, is a project of the Public Relations Association of Las Vegas.

THE QUALITY of children's TV programming and ways it can be improved will be discussed on ABC News' religious-cultural series "Directions" from 12:30 to 1 p.m. Sunday on Channel 7.

"Kids & TV: 'Suffer the Little Children?'" will be the topic of Squire D. Rushnell, an ABC-TV vice president; Barbara Selwyn, executive director of Action for Children's Television (ACT), and Rev. Richard A. Blake, S.J., associate editor of America magazine. Frank Reynolds will be the moderator.

HARRY REASONER, ABC newscaster, will speak at the premiere dinner-lecture of the Eli Broad National Issues Forum of Pitzer College

Credibility Gap to guest on National Lampoon Hour

The Credibility Gap, the four-man comedy group that wrote and performed three years' worth of daily satirical newscasts on KRLA and KPCC-FM, returns to the airwaves this week and next by way of the National Lampoon.

The Gap (Richard Beebe, David L. Lander, Michael McKean and Harry Shearer) will be guesting on the season's final two shows of the National Lampoon Radio Hour, a nationally syndicated comedy show that airs on KRLA Sunday nights at 8:30 (note new time). In Orange County, the Lampoon Hour is presented on KYMS-FM Saturday at 6 p.m.

Angels get the word—and loss

By DON MERRY
Staff Writer

DETROIT—In an emotionally charged pre-game address Friday night, Angel manager Bobby Winkles told it like it was and how he wished it could be with his floundering team.

Moved to oration by continuous reports of unrest and persistent rumors of a communications gap, Winkles spoke for 30 minutes before the game with the Detroit Tigers, attempting to clear the air and set his team on the right track.

He did not receive the kind of reaction he was looking for. The Angels squandered a 4-0 lead as once again—and stop me if this sounds repetitious—the bullpen, unaffectedly known as the "Arson Squad," failed miserably and the Tigers won, 5-4.

THE END came in the home half of the ninth when Jim Northrup, mired in a season-long slump, ripped a long, bases-loaded, two-out single to the base of the fence in rightfield off Dick Selma, the last of six pitchers employed by Winkles.

Asked what effect his moving address might have had, Winkles replied evenly, "I think it can help turn things around for us. But I guess it depends on whose side they're on."

While he had the stand, Winkles spoke to the team in general but interspersed his talk with remarks aimed specifically at individuals, most notably Frank Robinson, the man who is said to epitomize

Winkles' problems in communication.

"I'M MY own worst critic and I don't shy away from trouble," Winkles said in explaining his meeting with the players. "Therefore I'm able to sleep quite well every night but I'll confess I didn't sleep too well last night.

"I talked a little bit about my future with the club and I encouraged everybody to carry a mirror with them and look into it occasionally," he said.

Does the manager consider his job in jeopardy? "I don't at the present time," he replied, "but I know there is speculation."

Winkles admitted he was disappointed in the man who hired him off the campus of Arizona State three years ago, Harry Dalton, the general manager.

"He could have taken a firmer stand on whether or not I'm his manager," Winkles said in reference to Dalton's reply to the job jeopardy question. Asked if a change was being considered, Dalton remarked, "Not now, no."

Several of the players appeared moved by the manager's talk, delivered behind closed doors at Tiger Stadium. Tears were visible in the eyes of a few when the session adjourned.

"I'm behind him as long as he's here," said player representative Nolan

53,689 applaud Wynn-ing effort

By GORDON VERRELL
Staff Writer

Steve Garvey would be happy to finish second in the National League's RBI race—if Jimmy Wynn finishes first.

"The way Garvey's going," responds Wynn, "he'll be tough to catch."

Friday night at Dodger Stadium, cheered by a Ball Night throng of 53,689, the Toy Cannon surged to within an RBI of Garvey, the National League leader, with his most productive game in more than two weeks.

Wynn dramatically shattered a 5-5 tie with a leadoff home run in the ninth inning, sending the Dodgers to a 6-5 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

That gave Wynn three RBI for the night, but Garvey also drove in a run, his 50th, to maintain his lead over Wynn in a race a good deal tighter than the one in the Western Division.

The victory, the Dodgers' fourth in a row and 10th in their last 12 games, retained their eight-game advantage over second-place Cincinnati.

"Just when I get a little hot, he goes out and drives in another run," Wynn said, laughing. "If we finish one-two in the RBI race, I know who is going to win the pennant."

There is also little suspense as to who will win the attendance derby. The Dodgers, following their second 50,000-plus crowd of the season, are less than 3,000 spectators short of hitting the 800,000 plateau after only 28 home dates.

"I love it," Wynn said of the big crowd. "I'm sure it's the same for everyone else, too. It really jacks a guy up."

The Dodgers shot out to a 4-0 lead after two innings against Chicago starter Rick Reuschel

But the Cubs rallied to tie the contest on the strength of a pair of home runs off Don Sutton.

The one that inflicted the most damage was a three-run, inside-the-park blast by Rick Monday.

49er Dupree leaps 52-9½

Tennessee making move to dethrone UCLA spikers

AUSTIN, Tex.—While everyone in Texas Stadium intently followed the team battle between UCLA, Tennessee, Brigham Young University and Texas-El Paso, Long Beach State continued to perform to its maximum Friday in the NCAA track and field championships.

Senior Rayfield Dupree, waiting until his last attempt, soared 52-9½ to qualify for today's finals in the triple jump.

Dupree's effort made Ron Allice's 49ers two-for-two—they have only two athletes here—in finals qualification. Keith Goldie qualified in the javelin Thursday.

Competing in a field of 34, Dupree fouled twice—"one foul was at least 54 feet," Allice reported—before coming up with the third-best jump of the day. Only USC's Ed Washington (53-11½) and UCLA's Clarence Taylor (53-10½) went farther.

Tennessee's Reggie Jones put the Volunteers on a collision course with defending champion UCLA with an upset of San Diego's Steve Williams in the 100-yard dash.

Jones ran the distance in 9.18 seconds.

Jones was a clear underdog to Williams but found the 97-degree weather and high humidity to his liking before 5,000 fans in Memorial Stadium.

Williams was clocked in 9.20 and thought he had won. "I thought I had it, but my chest hit the tape and I didn't even try to lean at the finish," Williams said. "I got out poor and was tight during the whole race."

Jones said, "I sat home last week and watched Steve Williams, Don Quarry and Ivory Crockett on television and I wanted to show everyone Reggie can run, too. I was glad Steve had all the premeet publicity. Right now, the only thing I'm worried about is Tennessee winning the NCAA title. We have the momentum going now and we're not going to let up."

JONES was aided in the race by a wind of 10.3 miles an hour. Steve Riddick of Norfolk State finished third in 9.36.

Earlier, UCLA's Jerry Herndon captured the long jump.

"This is the greatest competitive team I've ever had and I think we're going to win it," said UCLA coach Jim Bush.

Tennessee quarter-miler and relay ace Darwin Bond quickly disagreed. "I think we are going to win it and so does every one on our team."

In another event in Friday night's finals, Charles Foster of North Carolina Central swept the first place medal in the 120 high hurdles with a clocking of 13.35. Lou

Lancer mainstay

Lakewood High School catcher Mike Martinson, second-round draft choice, will be behind plate today when Lancers meet North Torrance in replay of CIF 4A baseball championship game at USC's Dedeaux Field. Contest begins at 2 p.m. Martinson, with a .292 average, had three of Lakewood's six hits in Tuesday's 11-inning scoreless tie with North.

King of the hill? Lakewood, No. Torrance try again

By KEN PIVERNETZ
Staff Writer

For the second time this week, Lakewood and North Torrance will get together to try to determine the CIF 4A baseball champion.

The high schools struggled 11 scoreless innings Tuesday night at Anaheim Stadium and there was as much doubt at the end as to the best team as there had been at the outset.

A seldom needed CIF rule that no inning can begin after 11:30 p.m. halted the game.

The teams will start all over again today at USC's Dedeaux Field. Game time is 2 p.m.

The rematch has attracted an unusual amount of attention.

What help makes today's game all the more appealing is the strong possibility Tim O'Neill and Greg Herman again will be the starting pitchers.

O'Neill went the entire distance for North Torrance Tuesday, allowing only six hits to run his playoff total to 37½ out of the 41 innings the Saxons have played.

"Tim was a little tired," admitted North coach Jim O'Brien, "but I imagine a lot of players on both sides were tired after a game like that. His arm is just fine."

North's other pitcher is third baseman Brant Humphrey.

Herman stopped North on four hits in the nine innings he pitched and John Herbold admits the temptation is to come back with his big lefthander.

"Greg gave them a lot of trouble the other night," said Herbold, "but whether he'll start or not is something we'll have to talk over. Our immediate concern is to score some runs."

Floyd Chiffer pitched the 10th and 11th innings for Lakewood Tuesday.

O'Neill was in trouble only once, and the lone Lancer to give him a hard time was catcher Mike Martinson, who had three of his team's six hits.

The only North player with more than one hit was rightfielder Glen Nakagawa, who singled and doubled.

North catcher Ed Bowen saw to it that Lakewood was quiet on the basepaths. Bowen threw out the only two runners attempting to steal and picked off another Lancer to end the 11th inning.

Both teams were into the 10th inning before advancing a runner as far as third base.

The tie was the first blemish on Lakewood's record in 27 games, but leaves the Lancers with an opportunity to finish unbeaten at 27-0-1.

North was held scoreless for only the second time this year Tuesday. Millikan turned the trick in non-league play, 3-0. The Saxons are 25-6-1.

GAYLORD CAPTURES 10TH WIN OF SEASON

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Gaylord Perry pitched a four-hitter for his 10th successive victory and the Cleveland Indians scored single runs in the last two innings on an error and Joe Lis' homer to beat the Kansas City Royals, 3-1, Friday night.

Perry, 10-1, who has not lost since opening day, became the first pitcher in the major leagues to record 10 wins this season.

Before Lis blasted his first homer of the year in the ninth for an insurance run, the Indians scored the winning run in the eighth with the help of

White Sox survive fire, douse Red Sox

CHICAGO (AP)—Dick Allen blasted a three-run home run in the third inning and the Chicago White Sox picked up three more runs without the aid of a hit in the fifth Friday night to defeat Boston, 8-6, in a fire-delayed baseball game.

Play was interrupted in the eighth inning by a smoky fire which broke out in a rightfield popcorn machine. Gusty winds carried clouds of smoke into the rightfield seats, forcing 3,000 fans onto the playing field.

Some fans surrounded the Chicago dugout and talked with players while others congregated behind the mound and staged an impromptu dance.

Allen's 12th homer of the season, a drive deep into the upper deck in left-center, capped a four-run rally in the third. But the

DODGERS

The Cubs played long ball with Sutton in the seventh, too, with George Mitterwald's solo shot giving Chicago a 5-4 advantage.

But the Dodgers quickly got even, scoring a run in the bottom of the seventh on singles by Bill Buckner and Wynn and an infield out by Garvey.

Dave LaRoche, the former Angel pitcher and the third hurler used by the Cubs, pitched out of a jam in the eighth, but he faced only one batter in the ninth—Wynn.

The count went to 3-2 before Wynn unloaded, driving his league-leading 16th home run into the centerfield seats.

"He laid a fast ball right in there," Wynn said of the home run pitch.

It was a carbon copy of two nights earlier when Garvey opened the ninth inning with a home run to beat Pittsburgh, 3-2.

"I was taking notes," Wynn said.

"Really, I think I've matured a great deal the past five years. I've finally learned my strike zone. I don't swing at many bad pitches any more."

That is evidenced by the 48 walks he has been issued, the most by anyone in the National League.

Dave Lopes led off the game with a single, stole second and third, and, after Wynn had walked and Garvey struck out, scored on Ferguson's single.

Steve Yeager opened the second inning with a single but was forced by Sutton. Lopes, Buckner, Wynn and Garvey followed with successive singles and the Dodgers had a 4-0 advantage.

Restricted to one hit for four innings by Sutton, the Cubs got on the board in the fifth when Andre Thornton homered.

Oklahoma and Miami win; SC plays tonight

OMAHA, Neb. (UPI)—Third-ranked Oklahoma easily defeated Northern Colorado, 10-1, and Miami clipped Harvard 4-1 in the first two games of the 1974 College World Series Friday night.

Other first round games will come tonight when Texas takes on Southern California and Seton Hall battles Southern Illinois.

D'Acquisto raps homer, scatters nine Pirate hits

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Rookie John D'Acquisto scattered nine hits and hit a two-run homer, his first in the major leagues, to lead the San Francisco Giants to a 6-2 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates Friday night.

"I was taking notes," Wynn said.

Finley no incentive, A's bow

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Oakland A's owner Charles O. Finley invoked the spirit of Abraham Lincoln Friday in a special pre-game clubhouse meeting he called to try and stem reports of dissension among some members of his club.

"I reminded them of Abraham Lincoln who said, 'United we stand, divided we fall,'" Finley said.

The talk had little effect as Milwaukee scored six runs in the first four innings and Jim Colborn, making his first appearance since May 10, pitched 3½ shutout innings for his second victory of the season, a 6-4 decision.

Finley met for about 20 minutes with outfielders Reggie Jackson and Bill North as well as manager Alvin Dark before meeting with the entire Oakland team. Jackson and North were involved in two fights before Wednesday's game in Detroit.

"I told them I did not condone fighting on the bench or in the clubhouse. Every club in the American League is getting a kick out of this. They all want to see us fall flat on our face," said Finley.

Pete Farmer of Texas-El Paso won the hammer with a throw of 230 feet, 6 inches—25 feet farther than the closest competitor.

With the tight race for meet honors, it could all boil down to the mile relay today—the last event on the card.

UCLA, which is going for a sixth consecutive mile relay crown, barely qualified Friday night, finishing fourth in its heat after a strong anchor leg by Maxie Parks. North Carolina Central has a top entry. Tennessee must build up all of its points before the event because the Volunteers don't have a mile relay team.

At the end of the six-mile run—the final event of the evening—Texas-El Paso had 17 points and Southern California had 16. Brigham Young had 13 while UCLA, Tennessee and North Carolina Central each had 10 points.

Anthony extends leads to 40 pins in PBA play

Earl Anthony of Tacoma knocked down 1,775 pins in eight games Friday —a 222 average—to take a 40-pin lead over Gary Mage of Seattle after qof the $75,000 Pro Bowlers Assn. national championship at Wonderbowl in Downey.

Anthony, seeking his second consecutive title in this event, had a high game of 249 that helped boost his total to 10,828. He started the eight-game block with a two-peat.

Mage shot a 1,733 series in the sixth round of the tournament, winning six games. He has a 13-3 mark in games since h-to-head play began Thursday night, tops among the 24 semi-finalists.

Amx, who has won PBA titles, came up with five victories and two ties and used the victory bonus points to build his edge.

Mark Roth, Brooklyn, was a distant third, 153 pins behind Mage after six victories and 1,733 pins Friday.

Oakland's Gene Tenace scored on single by Angel Manguel Friday night, but only because Tenace was able to separate Milwaukee catcher Darrell Porter from ball with teeth-rattling slide.

Bench's hit stirs Phils, wins game

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Johnny Bench's controversial two-run double in the top of the ninth inning broke a 4-4 tie and carried the Cincinnati Reds to a 7-4 triumph over the Philadelphia Phillies Friday night.

Bench's line drive with runners on first and third appeared to glance off third baseman Mike Schmidt's glove and into foul territory. Third-base umpire Dick Stello ruled the ball had touched Schmidt's glove, but Phils' manager Danny Ozark claimed it hadn't and that the ball was foul.

Cesar Geronimo and Joe Morgan scored on the hit, then Tony Perez followed with an RBI double.

Winfield leads Pads

SAN DIEGO (UPI)—Dave Winfield hit his eighth home run of the year in the seventh inning and rookie Dave Freislein pitched a six-hitter Friday night as San Diego nipped St. Louis, 1-0.

It was the first shutout of the year for the Cardinals who missed a chance to move into first place in the National League East as pace-setting Philadelphia also lost.

Capra's scoreless string at 25 innings

ATLANTA (UPI)—Buzz Capra extended his streak of consecutive scoreless innings to 25 Friday night while pitching the Atlanta Braves to a 5-0 victory over the Montreal Expos.

Capra allowed only three hits in getting his third shutout of the year and raising his won-loss record to 5-2. He lowered his league-leading ERA to 1.17.

Darrell Evans and Mike Lum knocked in two runs each and Dusty Baker hit a sacrifice fly to account for the Braves scoring.

The victory was Capra's fifth against two losses and the Braves announced an advance sale of more than 30,000 seats for Tuesday's game when Capra is scheduled to pitch against Cy Young Award winner Tom Seaver and the New York Mets. The Mets sold Capra to Atlanta during the winter.

Follmer's 'hot car' grabs Tuborg pole

By ALLEN WOLFE
Staff Writer

RIVERSIDE—No matter how you look at it, George Follmer has a "hot car" to drive in Sunday's Tuborg 400 at Riverside International Raceway.

On Thursday, the Roger Penske-prepared AMC Matador assigned to Follmer was late in arriving at the track, the victim of a breakdown of its truck-trailer rig in New Mexico.

Then, later the same day, the car erupted in flames in the Goodyear garage when the Penske Enterprises crew attempted to inject a gasoline spray into the carburetor—a normal procedure—and the fuel ignited.

Bobby Allison's '74 Chevrolet, housed in the next stall, had to be shoved out of the way. Penske and team manager Mark Donohue then spent the remainder of the day and night directing the re-wiring and cleaning up of the engine compartment of Follmer's car in preparation for Friday's first round of qualifying.

They did a good job. Follmer, with barely 20 laps of practice time on Riverside's 2.62-mile, 8-turn road course, put the small block (386-cubic inch) Matador on the pole for the $80,000 NASCAR Grand National race.

IT MARKED the first time in more than 20 years that an American Motors product has held the pole position in a NASCAR-sanctioned event. Earlier this year the car gained front-row starting berths at Atlanta and Talladega.

The 1972 Can-Am and Trans-Am champion from Arcadia clocked one minute, 26.093 seconds at an average speed of 109.55 mph, well off Parnelli Jones' track record of 113.310 mph, set in 1970, a year before NASCAR instituted carburetor plates to slow the cars down.

Ironically, the 39-year-old Follmer parted company with veteran car-builder Bud Moore before the May 26 World 600 at Charlotte due to a rift between the two and was subsequently left without a ride.

HOWEVER, Penske's regular driver, Gary Bettenhausen, is committed to driving in the Rex Mays 150 for USAC championship Indianapolis cars Sunday in Milwaukee and that opened the door to Follmer. The contract is for this race only.

Defending Tuborg 400 champion Bobby Allison drove his 1974 Coca Cola Chevrolet to a speed of 109.304 mph and will flank Follmer on the outside of the front row for Sunday's 1 p.m. rolling start.

All told, 15 drivers qualified Friday with 20 more positions remaining to be filled during today's second session between 1 and 4 p.m. The track opens for practice at 9 a.m.

Stewart, Hrynko win Baja 500

ENSENADA, Mexico (AP)—Bill Hrynko and Ivan Stewart of El Cajon, Calif., co-driving a two-seat dune buggy, were the apparent winners Friday of the Baja 500 off-road race, which ended in mass confusion.

Hrynko and Stewart posted a time of 9 hours, 38 minutes.

Some drivers complained that no race official was available at the fifth checkpoint, south of La Rumorosa, to check drivers in and out.

At a drivers' meeting Wednesday, Bill Martin, a race official, said drivers were to go off the clock for one hour at the fifth checkpoint, then be re-started.

According to drivers, some contestants used the honor system and waited the hour before restarting but others either kept going or didn't wait the entire hour.

Officials said there were several collisions during the race with trucks involved in normal traffic but no serious injuries were reported. Mickey Thompson, the leader halfway through the race, didn't finish because his pickup truck had transmission problems.

Over-all, 1. Bill Hrynko and Ivan Stewart, El Cajon, California, dune buggy, 9 hours, 38 minutes. 2. Dick Lee, Hemet, Baja Bug, 10:10. 3. Mark Hansen, Escondido, Baja Bug, 10:17.

Little Belmont choice

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Belmont Stakes, last of the Triple Crown classics, comes up for its 106th running today with two horses shooting for the lion's share of a $171,950 purse.

A year ago, mighty Secretariat swept to glory by winning the Kentucky Derby, the Preakness and the Belmont Stakes. He was the first Triple Crown winner in a quarter of a century and the ninth in racing history.

This year, Cannonade won the Kentucky Derby and Little Current took the Preakness. Gone for another year are the chances of a Triple Crown champion. This pair now meets in a rubber match with a chance to grab two-thirds of the Triple Crown in the testing 1½-mile Belmont.

Twelve 3-year-olds were entered Thursday. El Espanoleto was withdrawn Friday and before the 2:38 p.m. (PDT) post-time today, two others, Accipiter and Covered Portage, are expected to be scratched.

Little Current, with Miguel Rivera up, is the 6-5 favorite. Cannonade, with Jorge Velasquez riding, is second choice at 5-2. Then comes Rubie the Great at 5-1 and Hudson County at 6-1.

These four colts raced in the Kentucky Derby and the Preakness. Jolly John and Kin Run competed only in the Preakness. The others are getting an initial chance in one of the classics.

All starters carry 126 pounds, just as they did in the Kentucky Derby and the Preakness. But for the first time they face the testing distance over a race track well able to accommodate them.

The field in post position order for today's 10th running of the Belmont Stakes at a mile and a half:

1. Little Current, 6-5
2. Rubie the Great, 5-2
3. Hudson County, 6-1
4. Jolly John, 5-1
5. Kin Run, 5-1
6. Cannonade, 5-1
7. Accipiter, 5-1
8. Covered Portage, 5-1
9. El Espanoleto, 5-1
10. Secretariat, 5-1
11. Secretariat, 5-1
12. Secretariat, 5-1

Assessed valuation of 10 major utilities hiked

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The state's 10 major private utilities had their market value hiked by 4.2 per cent by the State Board of Equalization Friday to a new valuation of $17.5 billion.

The board voted 2-1 to adopt the new assessment after earlier hearings where members heard testimony from industry representatives on the negative effect inflation has had on their operations.

The assessments are the first step in determining property taxes. Tax rates, set locally, are levied on the assessed value.

The "no" vote on each assessment was cast by board member William Bennett, who charged in a statement, "These monopolies, free from competition and guaranteed handsome earnings, are given kindly treatment in setting property tax liability."

In the new valuations, Pacific Telephone remains California's biggest property taxpayer, with an assessed value for tax purposes of $5.79 billion.

The companies' market values changed from 1973 to 1974 as follows:

Pacific Lighting Corp. $852 million to $889 million.

Pacific Gas & Electric Co. $4.52 billion to $4.65 billion.

San Diego Gas & Electric Co. $598 million to $605 million.

Southern California Edison $2.94 billion to $3 billion.

General Telephone Co. of California $1.57 billion to $1.7 billion.

Pacific Telephone & Telegraph Co. $5.56 billion to $5.79 billion.

A.T. & S.F. Railway Co. $160 million to $185 million.

Union Pacific Railroad Co. $65 million to $74 million.

Southern Pacific Transportation Co. $550 million to $590 million.

The Western Pacific Railroad $53.5 million to $48 million.
